Annual Manual 2026-27

This is a working reference manual containing general guidance on Library structure, strategic goals, best practices, and procedures. While every effort has been made to ensure accuracy, there is the possibility that there are mistakes, and this manual is not officially binding. If any guidance in this document conflicts with University of Idaho policies and procedures (e.g., Faculty Staff Handbook, Administrative Procedures Manual), Idaho State Board of Education policy, and/or state or federal law, the guidance provided from these other sources will always supersede this document. Please notify the dean if any such conflicts are found, or if you have any other questions, concerns, or suggestions for the manual.

1 MISSION, VISION, VALUES, AND STRATEGY

MISSION

As Idaho's flagship research library, the University of Idaho Library connects our users with information, ideas, tools, and spaces; enriches formal and informal learning opportunities; supports and advances research, scholarly, and creative activity; builds partnerships through regional and national outreach; and preserves university, state, and regional historical archives.

VISION

The University of Idaho Library will develop and expand our capacity and skills to provide our users with the resources, training, and expertise of a world-class research library. We champion the transformative power of ideas and learning, inspire our students to engage in a lifelong pursuit of intellectual development, and provide an essential foundation for innovation, research, and scholarship.

VALUES

As a part of the University of Idaho, we share the values of Excellence, Respect, Integrity, Perseverance, and Sustainability. As a library we embrace the values of Community, Access and Stewardship, and Intellectual Freedom. These values are interwoven into a learning culture that helps fulfill the educational, outreach, and research missions of both the University and the Library.

- Community: Through individual efforts, innovation, teamwork, and collaboration, we endeavor to provide user-centered services to all stakeholders locally, regionally, and nationwide.
- Access and Stewardship: We provide open, equitable, and efficient access to a diverse and interdisciplinary spectrum of information resources and physical spaces for both current and future users.
- Intellectual Freedom: We oppose censorship and provide individuals with the tools to explore and engage with multiple points of view.

STRATEGIC PRIORITIES

University Pillar: Ignite Student Success

Library Priority 1: Foster Information Literacy through Cross-Campus Partnerships

- What: Using our five Library Literacies as a frame, strengthen existing and seek out new partnerships across campus to encourage learning in important areas of information literacy.
- Why: Ensuring that our students are educated consumers and creators of information is an essential component of preparing them for the workforce and life as engaged citizens. The Library has unique and important areas that we specialize in, but our relatively small numbers limit our reach. Strong partnerships across campus amplify our impact.
- How (examples): Integrate second floor reference desk into other co-located student services; continue to bolster partnerships that drive use of the DataHub; integrate Library Literacies into the operational practices of Library faculty.

University Pillar: Drive Experiential Learning for All Students

Library Priority 2: Standardize and Formalize Library Experiential Learning Opportunities

- What: Investigate microcredentialing and badging for Library users, standardize Library fellowships, and continue to build our student employee training and development.
- Why: The Library offers a wide range of experiential learning opportunities for students. Standardizing programs creates a more consistent experience and lessens administrative burdens. Microcredentialing and badging offer additional incentives for participation.
- How (examples): Standardize student fellowships across units; seek opportunities for microcredentialing and/or badging in the MILL and Studio.

Library Priority 3: Preserve and Promote University Experiential Learning Outputs

- What: Seek and pursue opportunities to host outputs created by students as part of experiential learning opportunities across campus.
- Why: The Library has invested in building robust digital publishing platforms for a wide variety of use cases. Using these platforms will involve students with digital publishing while also showcasing our students' work.
- How (examples): Gauge interest in creating a student-run digital publication showcasing experiential learning; work with UCM to preserve and collect experiential learning features.

University Pillar: Adapt the Educational Model

Library Priority 4: Explore Different Models for Delivering Library Instruction

- What: Examine different approaches to providing library instruction that enhance our support for online, distance, and non-traditional learners and accommodate new teaching and learning styles in all settings.

- Why: There has been significant disruption to how instruction is delivered in higher education, and these trends appear to be accelerating. The Library must adapt its Library instruction to meet these changing needs.
- How (examples): Standardize and co-locate asynchronous learning objects; investigate new models of instruction (e.g., multiple small visits rather than a single presentation).

University Pillar: Harness Research Innovation and Partnerships

Library Priority 5: Connect Users with Collections

- What: Use formal and informal qualitative and quantitative methods to determine how Library collections are being used and whether there are ways to better connect users with the collections they need.
- Why: We build, purchase, and license massive collections but aren't always successful in communicating what we offer. Additionally, there may be ways to better serve users by shifting resources.
- How (examples): Investigate ways to connect K-12 educators across Idaho with relevant digital collections; develop marketing strategies to share and promote our OA content (e.g., digital collections, Pressbooks) with external audiences; find ways to better understand collections usage patterns of faculty, staff, and students.

University Pillar: Optimize Operational Excellence

Library Priority 6: Analyze Our Workflows

- What: Conduct unit-level workflow analyses to identify areas where documentation is needed, processes can be streamlined, or cross-training would be beneficial.
- Why: Well-designed workflows minimize frustration and miscommunication, show respect for our employees' time, and enable us to better serve our campus and community.
- How (examples): Work with section and area heads to examine area workflows to identify opportunities for improvement

2 ORGANIZATION

LIBRARY LEADERSHIP

Library Leadership consists of the Dean of University Libraries, two Associate Deans, the Head of Special Collections & Archives, and four section Heads. If any of these positions are vacant, authority for a Section or Area transfers up to the next reporting level.

- Core Leadership Team: Dean, Associate Deans, Head of Special Collections & Archives
- Full Leadership Team: Core Leadership Team plus the Section Heads

2.1.1 Selection of Library Leadership

Dean, Associate Deans, and the Head of Special Collections & Archives are continuing administrative appointments. The dean is selected by the University of Idaho Provost according to the Library Bylaws, Faculty Staff Handbook Guidelines, and university-level Human Resources guidelines. The other positions are hired using standard hiring practices.

Section Heads are renewable two-year positions that serve on a fiscal year calendar and include an administrative stipend. Section Heads are required to be tenure track faculty at the rank of Assistant Professor or above.

The selection process for Section Heads is as follows:

- When a Section Head's term is ending, the Dean will put out a call for self-nominations early in the spring semester before the end of the term. If a position is vacated off schedule, the Dean will put this call out immediately.
- Interested individuals will submit a one-page letter of interest directly to the Dean outlining their experience and career goals, how they see these informing their work as a Section Head, and how they anticipate the Section will move forward in the next two years and a current C.V.
- All letters of interest will be distributed via email to all board appointed faculty and staff in the Library.
- There will be a confidential (not anonymous) online form that all faculty and staff can use to provide feedback on the candidates.
- The Core Leadership Team will then review applications and feedback and announce decisions.
- Successful candidates will begin their new roles at the beginning of the fiscal year, or when the position becomes vacant.

The dean's administrative appointment can be removed at any time at the discretion of the provost, and the associate deans, area head, and section heads can have their administrative appointment removed at any time at the discretion of the dean.

AREAS AND SECTIONS

The Library is divided into four Areas (note that Areas are often referred to as “Units”):

- Administration (led by the Dean)
- Operations & Access (led by the Associate Dean for Operations & Access)
- Research & Instruction (led by the Associate Dean for Research & Instruction)
- Special Collections & Archives (led by the Head of Special Collections & Archives)

The two largest Areas are divided into two Sections (note that Sections are often referred to as “Departments”):

- Operations & Access is divided into:
 - Access & Engagement (headed by a Section Head)
 - Discovery & Acquisitions (headed by a Section Head)
- Research & Instruction is divided into:
 - Digital Scholarship & Open Strategies (headed by a Section Head)
 - Research & Experiential Learning (headed by a Section Head)

Annual reporting happens at the Section level for the two large Areas and at the Area level for Special Collections & Archives and Administration.

TEAMS

The Library’s Area and Section structure is the official structure for the Library for HR processes and staff supervisory lines. However, as a highly collaborative organization, much of the work of the Library happens between Sections and Areas.

Teams are standing groups consisting of employees from multiple parts of the organization or a subset of personnel from a Section. Team rosters will be reviewed each year on the academic year calendar, and each year a Team Lead is named to coordinate the work of the Team. All Teams report to a specified member of the Core Leadership Team.

The work of a Team is ongoing, though they may take on timebound projects. Teams should meet at least once per semester. Some Teams will exist primarily to formalize and facilitate communication between personnel spread across different Sections, while others will have a specific charge.

Each summer the Leadership Team will review the roster of Teams and revise as necessary to ensure that all aspects of the work of the Library is properly accounted for and attended to.

COMMITTEES

Committees are groups whose work falls outside the scope of Areas and Teams and are formed by the Dean for a specific purpose. Committees at the Library include the Promotion & Tenure Committee, the Library Safety Committee, the Library Social Organization, and Search Advisory Committees.

LITERACIES

The 2016 ACRL Framework for Information Literacy for Higher Education¹ provides an overarching framework for the Library's Teaching, Learning, and Research activities (as defined above as a Work Cluster). This document defines information literacy as "the set of integrated abilities encompassing the reflective discovery of information, the understanding of how information is produced and valued, and the use of information in creating new knowledge and participating ethically in communities of learning." The full document offers a great deal of additional context and detail. Additional literacies defined by the Library align with the larger goal of developing information literacy in our students, and our larger campus community.

To clarify and amplify the distinct educational value that the Library provides to our students, the Library faculty has defined distinct learning literacies. These literacies clearly articulate our instructional goals, support scaffolding of course-integrated instruction, and strategically inform the development of credit-bearing Library courses, workshops, presentations, and asynchronous learning content. This framework is rooted in established scholarship and uniquely responsive to the specific needs of our student community, and aims to enhance our instructional coherence and effectively communicate the vital role librarians play in fostering academic excellence.

2.5.1 Research Literacy

Definition:

The ability to effectively define information needs, develop flexible and interdisciplinary search strategies, critically evaluate sources, and ethically use information across various scholarly and creative contexts.

Core Competencies:

- Define and refine research questions across disciplines.
- Develop and adapt search strategies for diverse information systems.
- Critically evaluate source credibility, authority, and relevance.
- Navigate physical and digital research environments and services.
- Understand the scholarly communication process and publishing lifecycle.
- Apply concepts of intellectual property and ethical information use.
- Engage with AI tools to support research while evaluating bias and validity.
- Recognize privacy concerns in the management and sharing of research data.

2.5.2 Archival & Primary Source Literacy

Definition:

The ability to locate, interpret, and ethically use primary sources and archival materials in both physical and digital forms, considering historical context, creator intent, and archival structure.

Core Competencies:

- Understand archival organization, terminology, and discovery tools in order to develop proficiency in navigating both physical and digital archives.
- Differentiate between born-digital and digitized materials.
- Contextualize historical sources and analyze creator intent.
- Identify gaps or silences in archival records and learn strategies for locating supplementary sources.
- Respect privacy concerns related to individuals represented in archival content.
- Critically assess the impact of AI-generated tools on archival research and interpretation.
- Understand the unique legal and ethical obligations of using primary source materials which may be unpublished or sensitive in nature, including citation and reproduction practices.

2.5.3 Data Literacy

Definition:

The ability to access, interpret, analyze, visualize, and ethically manage data across quantitative and qualitative domains to support inquiry, communication, and decision-making.

Core Competencies:

- Collect, clean, and organize data from various sources.
- Use analysis methods and tools to interpret and visualize data.
- Understand and apply principles of data ethics, privacy, and intellectual property.
- Communicate insights through compelling data narratives.
- Manage research data responsibly, including version control and storage.
- Use AI tools for data analysis and critically evaluate their outputs.
- Collaborate across disciplines using shared data practices.
- Expand understandings of what data is and how it can be gathered.

2.5.4 Creative Technology & Digital Publishing Literacy

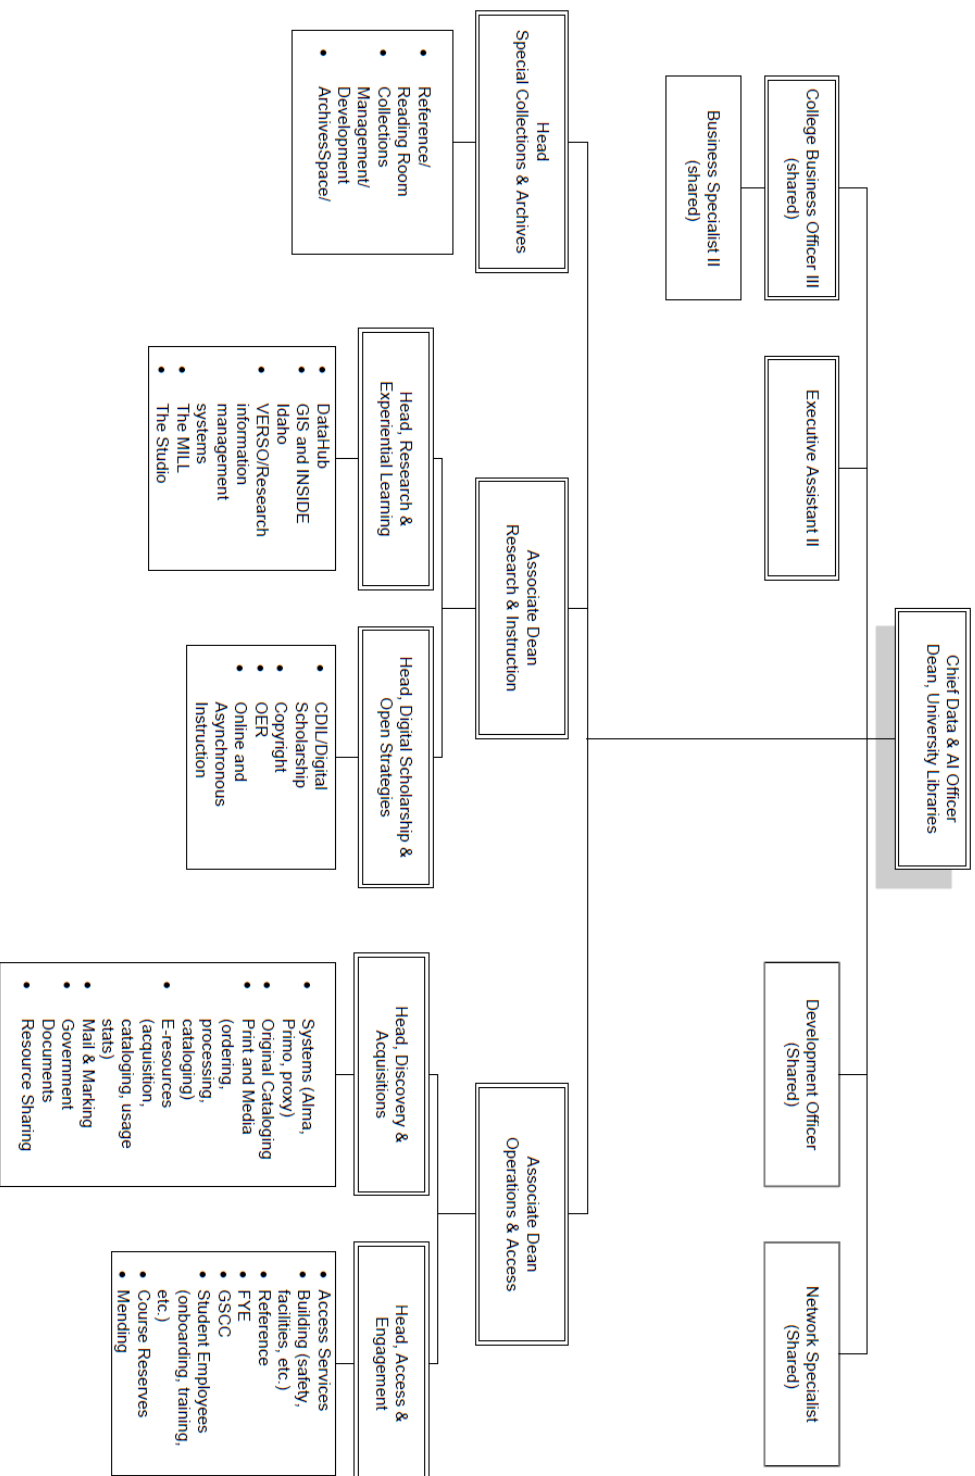

Definition:

The ability to conceptualize, design, produce, and disseminate creative or scholarly work in both digital and physical forms, integrating technical skills with ethical and creative considerations.

Core Competencies:

- Use design thinking and iterative creation processes.
- Create and publish content in a range of media formats (web, 3D, video, etc.).
- Understand publishing workflows, open access, and rights management.
- Integrate accessibility and usability into digital content.
- Use tools like 3D printers, laser cutters, among others, to both ideate and engage in rapid prototyping.
- Apply copyright, licensing, and intellectual property principles.
- Consider the impacts of AI on creation, authorship, and originality.
- Reflect on the privacy and ownership of digital creations in networked environments.

ORGANIZATIONAL CHART

3 ACCOUNTABILITY AND REPORTING

KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS (KPIs)

3.1.1 Definition

The importance, impact, and work of the Library is far reaching and essential to the University of Idaho and our community. There is no way to adequately measure and account for this work, nor is there a way to predict or measure the ways in which our work with the preservation of the historical record will be important in the future. However, to ensure proper stewardship of the many resources that are invested in the Library, specific indicators of use and impact are collected and monitored. These indicators of our performance are key to decision making and demonstrating our impact and are thus referred to as key performance indicators (KPIs).

KPIs are the responsibility of the entire Library organization, not any one Area, Section, or Team. They are framed within Work Clusters for reporting purposes.

Certain KPIs are of particular importance to specific Sections or Teams, and they are specifically called out within the annual Team and Section overviews as appropriate. Teams and Sections should monitor KPIs that are assigned to them and use those KPIs to drive decision making.

Some Teams and Sections also have KPIs assigned to them as an area of “Primary Responsibility;” this indicates that the Team or Section is responsible for collecting and reporting those data. Note that for Primary Responsibility, each KPI is mapped to one (and only one) Team or Section.

3.1.2 List of KPIs by Work Cluster

3.1.2.1 Collections & Discovery

3.1.2.1.1 Course Reserves

- Course sections using reserves
- Faculty/instructors using reserves
- Usage of items on reserve
- Amount saved by students (see Student Savings)

3.1.2.1.2 Digital Collections (locally created and hosted)

- Extant digital collections
- Newly created digital collections
- Total pages/items
- Usage of digital collections (see Web Properties)

3.1.2.1.3 Electronic Resources (commercially created, licensed)

- Overall usage
- Usage by format (e.g., book, journal)
- Overall cost per use (CPU)
- CPU by format

3.1.2.1.4 Geographic Information Systems

- Web traffic (see Web Properties)
- Use of GIS platforms
- User interactions (see Reference and Research Assistance)

3.1.2.1.5 Online Catalog

- Searches
- Time spent/bounce rate
- Type of usage (e.g., facets, action button)
- General engagement (e.g., actions per session, type of device)

3.1.2.1.6 Physical Circulation

- Initial check-outs of print items
- Renewals of print items
- Technology items circulated by type

3.1.2.1.7 Research Information Management

- Profiles
- Research Assets
- Research Assets by Type
- Research Output Downloads and Views

3.1.2.1.8 Special Collections & Archives

- Extant finding aids
- New finding aids
- User interactions (see Reference and Research Assistance)
- Use of digital assets (see Web Properties)

3.1.2.1.9 Web Properties

- Total visits (total sessions)
- Users (unique users)
- Total pageviews
- User location

3. Accountability and Reporting: Key Performance Indicators (KPIs)

3.1.2.2 Experience & Engagement

3.1.2.2.1 Building Usage

- Gate counts
- Reservable space bookings
- Bookings by day/time
- Usage of non-reservable spaces

3.1.2.2.2 Exhibits

- Created and exhibited within building
- Created and exhibited outside building
- Exhibits hosted

3.1.2.3 Teaching, Learning & Research

3.1.2.3.1 Fellowships

- Total awards
- Projects released
- Fellowship impact (descriptive)

3.1.2.3.2 Instruction

- Attendees by type/area
- Sessions by type/area
- Total attendance at First Year Experience program instruction events

3.1.2.3.3 Library Faculty Scholarship

- Articles
- Presentations
- Grants

3.1.2.3.4 Research and Reference Assistance

- Reference Statistics
- Interaction Statistics (including RAPs and FRAPs)

3.1.2.3.5 Student Employment

- Total student workers
- Total hours worked
- Total money spent

3.1.2.3.6 Student Savings

SECTION, TEAM, AND COMMITTEE OVERVIEWS AND OBJECTIVES

3.2.1 Sections

3.2.1.1 Access & Engagement

Overview:

The Access & Engagement Section encompasses Access Services and Reference Services. Within each of these areas, supporting our patrons and forming connections with them is crucial. In Access Services in the Main Library and Gary Strong Curriculum Center (GSCC), we seek to “connect [in-person and virtual U of I affiliate and community members] to library resources,” course reserves, spaces, and technology.¹ In Reference Services, we seek to “assist, advise, and instruct [in-person and virtual U of I affiliates and community members]” in finding, accessing, and evaluating information related to their information and research needs.² The work of this unit occurs synchronously and asynchronously.

3.2.1.2 Digital Scholarship & Open Strategies

Overview:

The Digital Scholarship and Open Strategies unit enriches learning opportunities and advances research, scholarly and creative activity related to digital scholarship, open education, open publishing, web development, and asynchronous and online learning. Serving as the home for programs such as the Center for Digital Inquiry and Learning, the Open Access Publishing Fund, and the Think Open fellowship program, the unit fosters the infrastructure and expertise necessary to support and sustain the library's efforts in digital projects, services, and project management.

3.2.1.3 Discovery & Acquisitions

Overview:

The Discovery & Acquisitions unit acquires, maintains, and makes discoverable and accessible a wide variety of resources for library patrons. It does so by curating the library's general collection, including print, media, e-resources, and government publications, and by facilitating borrowing and lending requests from other libraries. To enhance the general collection, unit members review information about new products, renewals, usage, requests, and costs to make recommendations to library decision makers. The unit also fulfills patron requests via resource sharing for resources not held by the library itself. Workflow analysis is an integral part of the unit's approach, and the unit regularly evaluates current and new, tools, processes, and trends to identify opportunities for improved efficiency and service, clearer documentation, and effective cross-training.

3.2.1.4 Research and Experiential Learning

Overview:

The Research & Experiential Learning (REL) offers dedicated spaces and services to U of I students, staff, and faculty to engage in curricular, research, or personal learning experiences. The REL Unit delivers services through four programs: the MILL, the Studio, the Data Hub, and VERSO. Unit personnel emphasizes excellence in service delivery, creative and innovative learning opportunities, and efficient management of its resources in support of the Library's strategic priorities.

3.2.1.5 Special Collections & Archives

Overview:

The Special Collections and Archives (Spec) department supports stakeholder access to unique and rare materials that are crucial to studying the history of the university, the state, and the region. A significant portion of Spec's holdings are not duplicated anywhere else in the world, and the archives are curated to serve the needs of students, faculty, and the community. Users of Spec holdings apply their findings to scholarly research projects, industry-driven inquiries, university storytelling efforts, personal or family studies, and more.

3.2.3 Library Committees

3.2.3.1 Promotion & Tenure Committee

The Library's Promotion & Tenure (P&T) Committee consists of:

- Three tenured faculty members (at least one Full Professor)
- One tenured faculty member serving as an alternate
- One tenure-track untenured faculty member
- One tenure-track untenured faculty member serving as an alternate
- One tenured faculty member from outside the Library

Library faculty positions are staggered three-year terms and are elected annually from the Library faculty by secret ballot. Details on this process can be found in the Promotion and Tenure Committee section of the Library Faculty Bylaws.

The faculty member from a non-Library section is selected by the dean after consultation with the chair of the P&T Committee.

Committee Membership for AY 2026 - 2027

- Tenured faculty members:
 - Bruce Godfrey, Fall 2026 - Spring 2029
 - Jylisa Kenyon, Fall 2024 - Spring 2027 (Chair)
 - Devin Becker, Fall 2025 – Spring 2028
 - Pam Martin, alternate: Fall 2024 - Spring 2027 (Finishing Diane Prorak's Term)
 - outside member vacant, Fall 2026 - Spring 2027 (elected by Dean)
- Untenured faculty members:
 - Andrew Weymouth, Fall 2024 - Spring 2027
 - Dulce Kersting-Lark, Fall 2024 - Spring 2027
 - Tyler Rodrigues, alternate, Fall 2024 - Spring 2027

3.2.3.2 Search Advisory Committees

Search Advisory Committees (often referred to as Search Committees) are appointed by the dean or their delegate. Search Advisory Committees work with the Executive Assistant to the Dean to shepherd the hiring process and make hiring recommendations to the dean.

3.2.3.3 Library Bylaws Committee

The Library Bylaws Committee is appointed by the dean and ensures that Library Faculty Bylaws are current and appropriately comprehensive.

3.2.3.4 Library Safety Committee

The Library Safety Committee ensures best practices for safety in the Library building. The Public Spaces Team serves as the Library Safety Committee as part of their duties.

REPORTING

At the end of Fall and Spring semesters, Teams and Sections will provide short narrative reports of approximately 150-300 words summarizing their work to date, including success, progress on goals, personnel changes, and any obstacle encountered. Teams and Sections with Primary Responsibility for one or more KPIs must record all statistics in a central location accessible by all board appointed Library employees. All reports and KPIs can be found at <https://uidaholib.github.io/kpis/>

During the summer Teams and Sections will use Spring and Fall reports to create a final report to the year that summarizes their work and provides guidance for the work of next year's group

Study lockers are available to all U of I students on a first come, first served basis. The lockers are assigned for one semester only. The assignment may be renewed if there is no waiting list.

Study carrels are available to U of I graduate students who have an approved thesis or dissertation topic and who do not have an assigned office, desk or carrel elsewhere on campus. Carrels are assigned on a first come, first served basis. Applications for lockers and carrels are available at the Circulation Desk and online: <https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/about/policies.html#lockerscarrels>.

SCHEDULING

5.4.1 General Library Spaces

LibCal is an online platform for scheduling events and meetings, sharing building and service point hours, and managing reservable spaces.

The Section Head for Access & Engagement will maintain building and service point hours and work with representatives from each service point to ensure that posted hours are correct.

Library employees are responsible for scheduling all other events and meetings within LibCal.

Prior to scheduling a meeting, please confirm the availability of the Library space:

1. Log-in to LibCal: <https://libcal.uidaho.edu/admin>
2. Click Spaces > Booking Grid & Availability
3. Select the room category and click 'Go'
4. Click 'Go To Date' to navigate to the event/meeting date
5. Scroll to the correct time and ensure that it appears as Available (green)
6. Please do not book the Spaces area. Always create an event in a calendar and select the space in that event booking.

To schedule an event or meeting in a Library space:

1. Log-in to LibCal: <https://libcal.uidaho.edu/admin>
2. Click Events
3. Click the calendar you want to use (Exhibits, Instruction, Library Student Worker Training, Library Workshops, or Miscellaneous) - Library Workshops is the only public facing calendar and is used for all public events.
4. If necessary, click 'Go To Date' or use the arrows to navigate to the event/meeting date
5. Click the date for the event/meeting
6. Choose 'Create from Scratch' or select a pre-created template, then click 'Continue'
7. Fill-out the event form with required information
 - Details include: the start and end times, setup and teardown padding, event title and description, campus, presenter, event location, event registration, etc.
 - Ensure you select the correct space and that the space is available.
8. Select a category and color, if you'd like to use something other than the default options
9. Choose the event/meeting status (Publish or Unpublished Draft) and click 'Continue'
 - Events/meetings published to the Instruction and Library Workshops calendars will appear on the Library website
 - Events/meetings published to the Exhibits, Library Student Worker Training, and Miscellaneous calendars will not be posted publicly

5.4.2 Large Conference Room

To schedule the large conference room, add rs-library-403@uidaho.edu to a meeting invitation. Samm will accept or deny the reservation. The calendar name in Outlook is "Resource, Library - Large Conf Room (rs-library-403@uidaho.edu)".

REPORTING BUILDING ISSUES

To report general building/safety issues email: lib-bldg@uidaho.edu.

Issues may include (but are not limited to):

- Custodial or cleaning
- General maintenance
- Sign updates
- Water leaks
- Lights out

Hazardous or time sensitive issues, such as water leaks can be reported directly to facilities:

- During normal operations hours: Facilities main desk at 208-885-6246 (5-6246) or email facilities@uidaho.edu.
- After hours: call at campus security 208-885-7054 (5-7054) and email lib-bldg@uidaho.edu.
- If needed, also fill out the Library Internal Incident Report: https://uidaho.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_cUajkxJo3tztjMy

NOTE: Always email lib-bldg@uidaho.edu with an update so that Library Administration is aware of issues and can take appropriate follow-up action as needed.

ALARMS

5.6.1 Fire alarms

See Section 2.6

5.6.2 Special Collections & Archives

When alarms are activated in Special Collections, police are automatically notified and should arrive on site. Both the Dean (Ben Hunter, 208-310-6704) and Head of Special Collections (Dulce Kersting-Lark, 515-231-3020) should be immediately notified by whoever first hears the alarm.

5.6.3 All other door alarms

1. (Optional) Turn switch to “off” at control panel in Information Desk area (this will mute the alarm in that area)
2. Locate the emergency door that set off the alarm
3. Open and close door
4. Use standard Library master key (the one everyone has) to reset alarm
5. Re-insert key on door(s) until red lights are blinking (this reactivates the alarm)
6. If you turned the control panel switch to “off” in step 1, turn it back to “on” (if you didn’t do step 1, you don’t need to do anything)

SAFETY

All University library employees must be signed up for U of I Emergency Alerts in Vandal Web as this is how the University contacts students and employees about critical information including University closures and safety issues.

Additionally, the dean needs to be notified immediately if any emergency or safety issues occur in the Library. This can be done by emailing lib-bldg@uidaho.edu for nonconfidential issues or by calling his cell phone (208-310-6704) or emailing him directly at bhunter@uidaho.edu for confidential issues.

5.7.1 Fire Safety Plan

In the event of a fire (Recommended order, change as the situation requires):

1. Call for Help. Get to a safe place and immediately call 911. Identify yourself and the location of the fire (by building, floor, and room number, if possible)
2. Sound the Alarm. If the alarm system is not engaged, pull the closest manual pull alarm located near an exit door.
3. Prepare to exit. Take only necessary items, and verbally notify those around you of the fire as you move towards the exit, closing doors as you leave the building. Stay low if smoke is present.

4. Evacuate. Leave the area immediately using the evacuation routes. Use stairs! Never use elevators. Report to the assembly point outside of the building in front of Renfrew Hall directly across from the Library's main entrance.

In the event of a Fire Alarm:

1. Prepare to exit. Turn off equipment, close doors, and take only necessary items as you leave the building. Remind others to exit swiftly.
2. Evacuate the building. As you leave, check doors, hallways, and stairwells for heat and smoke. Do not open doors that are hot. If you cannot evacuate safely, remain where you are and attempt to block smoke from entering. Call 911 and report your location.
3. Use Stairs. Never use elevators when exiting due to a fire alarm. If you are unable to use the stairs, locate a safe area (or area of refuge) and call 911.

Accountability:

1. Remain at the assembly area. Do not leave the evacuation assembly point until you have been accounted for.
2. Ensure colleague well-being. Check for the safety and well-being of others. If someone is injured or absent, notify authorities immediately.
3. Re-enter when all-clear. If the fire alarm cause is determined and the fire department has deemed it safe to return inside, you may do so only when given the all-clear.

All Fire Alarms Require Immediate Evacuation of All Personnel

5.7.2 Emergency Evacuation Procedures

All employees should meet in front of Renfrew Hall directly across from the Library's main entrance.

5.7.3 Emergency Occurrence- After Hours

There is a significant chance an emergency may occur outside regular University of Idaho office hours.

While the structure of this plan remains precisely the same, the implementation may vary depending upon available resources and personnel until the proper officials can be notified. Until that time, the individuals assuming the most responsibility will be those officials/individuals of highest rank who are available. These individuals should seek to follow the guidelines of the plan as nearly as possible, while simultaneously making an effort to notify University of Idaho officials of the situation to obtain verification or advice on their actions.

A building evacuation is mandatory whenever a fire alarm sounds and building occupants should exit immediately, putting the University of Idaho Library evacuation plan into effect. After the building has been evacuated, occupants must wait for a safety inspection and recall before re-entry.

If a complete campus evacuation and closure is necessary during an emergency, it will be announced and coordinated by the University of Idaho's leadership and Emergency Management Team.

5.7.4 To Implement an Evacuation

- Remain calm.
- Communicate clearly and succinctly.
 - Example: "We have a _____ type of emergency. Evacuate to _____. Take only the belongings you may need for personal well-being during emergency."
- DO NOT use the elevators.
- Assist persons with disabilities or assign assistance.
- Check offices, classrooms, and restrooms; close doors, but do not lock them.
- Keep exiting groups together.
- Faculty/Instructors assist students. Take rosters.
- Gather at the designated evacuation site and await instructions.
- Account for faculty, staff and students.

5.7.5 Evacuation Procedures

(Evacuation is required any time the fire alarm sounds, an evacuation announcement is made or a university official order you to evacuate.)

- Turn off equipment, if possible.
- Quickly shutdown any hazardous operations or processes and render them safe. Critical emergency coordination staff must follow the University of Idaho Library approved emergency evacuation plan. Staff members may not remain in a building once an evacuation signal or order has been given.
- Notify others in the area of the alarm if they did not hear it.
- Area heads should take staff rosters.
- Exit the building via the nearest safe exit route. Walk; do not run. Do not use elevators to exit.
- Check offices, classrooms, and restrooms; close doors, but do not lock them.
- Take jackets or other items needed for protection from the weather.
- Leave room lights on.
- If you are away from your normal working area when the alarm sounds, you should exit the building immediately and not return to your area.
- Move away from the building, report to the unit's designated evacuation point and meet with other people from the section or building. Report any missing or trapped people to the emergency responders.
- Keep existing groups together.
- Account for faculty, staff and students and sign in at evacuation point.
- Wait at the evacuation point for directions.
- Do not reenter the building until emergency staff give the "all clear" signal.

5.7.6 Evacuation of Persons with Disabilities

Be aware that faculty, staff and students with "hidden" disabilities (arthritis, cardiac conditions, back problems, learning disabilities, etc.) may also need individual assistance. Use the following list to inform both helpers and disabled persons. Use a "buddy system" naming who is responsible for whom.

To Assist Visually Impaired Persons

- Announce the type of emergency.
- Offer your arm for guidance.
- Tell the person where you are going and obstacles you encounter.
- When you reach safety, ask if further help is needed.

To Alert People with Hearing Limitations

- Turn lights on/off to gain the person's attention.
- Indicate directions with gestures.
- Write a note with evacuation directions.

To Evacuate People Using Crutches, Canes, or Walkers

- Evacuate these individuals as injured persons.
- Assist and accompany to evacuation site if possible.
- Use a sturdy chair (or one with wheels) to move the person.

To Evacuate Wheelchair Users

- Individuals at ground floor locations may exit without help.
- Individuals with movement limitations or respiratory complications must always be assisted with emergency exiting.
- Remove from area with smoke and vapors immediately.
- If the wheelchair is too heavy, offer lifting assistance; or try a sturdy chair. In some cases, the fire department will have to assist.
- Consult with the person to determine best carry options.
- Reunite the person with the chair as soon as it is safe to do so.

Remember that evacuated persons with disabilities must be accounted for before allowing re-entry or relocation. Persons assigned to help these individuals must provide personnel accounting following the incident.

5.7.7 Procedures for Lockdown (Shelter in Place)

- Report the emergency requiring lockdown (armed intruder, hazardous materials release, abduction, etc.) by calling 911, campus security 208-885-7054 (5-7054) and give the location including building name, address, and your location inside.
- Notification of the emergency will not use the fire alarm systems. VandalAlert, phone systems, email and press will provide notification.
- Account for all area, classroom, or building occupants. Notify authorities of any discrepancies immediately.
- Recall or re-entry notifications will be given through the VandalAlert system, phone systems, email, and press releases.
- Occupants in lockdown (sheltering in place) will use the area phone systems and/or cell phones to remain in communication with authorities and campus administration during the entire event.

5.7.8 Emergency Action Plan

5.7.8.1 Medical Emergency Procedure

- Remain calm. Quick, decisive action will provide the best outcome for the patient.
- Protect person from further injury by removing them from the hazard. Only move injured persons when it is absolutely necessary. Alert bystanders for assistance in obtaining help.
- Immediately notify authorities of the location, nature and extent of the injury by calling 911. Always call from a safe location.
- Provide first aid until help arrives if you have appropriate training and equipment.
- Send someone outside to escort emergency responders to the appropriate location, when possible.

5.7.8.2 Fire or Explosion Emergency Procedure

When building alarm sounds, immediately begin following the evacuation procedures.

If you witness a fire or explosion:

- Alert people in the immediate area of the fire and evacuate the room.
- Confine the fire by closing doors as you leave.
- Activate the building fire alarm system by pulling the handle on a local fire alarm box.
- Notify 911 of the location and size of the fire. Always call from a safe location.
- Evacuate the building using the established Emergency Evacuation Procedure. Once outside, notify emergency responders of the location, nature and size of the fire.
- If you have been trained and it is safe, you may attempt to extinguish the fire with a portable fire extinguisher. If you have not been trained, you must evacuate the area.

5.7.9 Power Outage

If power outage lasts more than a few minutes:

- Check with co-workers and Library users to ensure that everyone is safe and able to navigate.
- Convene on the first floor of the Library near the Information Desk. Ensure that someone from the Library is in contact with Facilities (during business hours) or Security (after business hours).
- If the outage has lasted for 15 minutes, then available Library employees should coordinate with each other to sweep the Library and check-in with users to ensure safety and comfort. Library users may stay in the building if they wish.
- If the outage has lasted for 60 minutes and there does not seem to be an imminent resolution, the Library will be closed for the remainder of the day, unless other plans are communicated by Library Leadership. All available Library employees should assist in notifying Library users of the closure.

Remember that these plans are a guide and are unable to outline or determine every event encountered in an emergency. U of I is intent on maintaining your safety while on campus. If you feel endangered or threatened, please take adequate measures to protect yourself and notify authorities of the situation.

ELECTRONIC RESOURCES

Access

Off-campus: access to electronic resources is only available to current students, faculty, and staff with a uidaho.edu or vandals.uidaho.edu email address via single-sign on (SSO). Guest patrons, therefore, cannot access e-resources from off campus.

Guest patrons: access to some electronic resources from on-campus is allowed by using the links in the Resources for Community Patrons: Databases libguide (<https://tinyurl.com/communitylibguides>). These links bypass the proxy server and rely on IP range for access.

6.2.1 E-Monographs (Books)

General/Troubleshooting Questions: lib-erm@uidaho.edu or Primo Report a Problem button.

Ordering:

- Rialto in Alma is preferred (ask Alyssa or Rami if you have questions)
- A Librarian Purchase Request form is available (if you are unable to use Rialto) here: <https://forms.office.com/r/SKiT0nufigw> and is also linked from the “for librarians” LibGuide. The form sends the request to Alyssa and Rami.
- Contact Alyssa with additional questions about ordering or access: ahamburger@uidaho.edu

6.2.2 Journals and Databases

6.4.1 Main Stacks (location, searching, circ policies)

Location: The Main Stacks are on the Second Floor (Call numbers T-Z), Third Floor (Call numbers H-S), Fourth Floor (Call numbers A-G).

Searching: All Main Stacks materials should be discoverable in Primo.

Circulation Policies: Policies can be found on the library’s website under Borrow/Renew (<https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/services/borrow/>).

6.4.2 Periodicals

Location: General collections periodicals are located on the Second Floor. Government document periodicals are located in the basement documents stacks.

Searching: Physical periodical titles should be discoverable in Primo. However, complete item-level information may not be available for all titles.

Circulation Policies: Periodicals do not circulate although librarians and access services staff can grant exceptions to this policy.

6.4.3 Special Collections & Archives

Location: Spec manuscript collections, photo groups, and rare books are located in the basement in caged areas with restricted access. Spec staff and faculty have access to the cages with their key cards.

Searching: Most manuscript collections can be discovered in Archives West (<https://archiveswest.orbiscascade.org/>), as can most photo groups. Rare books and a small percentage of collections can be found in Primo and will be noted as residing in Special Collections.

Circulation Policy: Spec materials do not circulate and must be accessed by patrons in the Reading Room.

6.4.4 Government Documents

Location: Government documents are located in the basement and are in closed stacks. Patrons needing a document must request it at the circulation desk. The documents are shelved according to the SuDoc classification system (<https://www.fdlp.gov/cataloging-and-classification/classification-guidelines/the-classification-system-brief-history>).

Searching: Nearly all government documents published after 1976 are discoverable in Primo. Discovery and acquisitions staff continue to add pre-1976 documents to the catalog as time permits.

Reference Questions: Questions by patrons involving government documents that need more in-depth research should be directed to Rami Attebury or Jylisa Kenyon.

Circulation Policies: Documents circulate according to their call number range. Documents in these ranges do not circulate and must be used in the building: A13, C3, C56, I19, I29, I49, L2, SI2, S1.1. Exceptions can be made by librarians or access services staff. Documents without barcodes can still circulate, and access services staff can create a temporary record for barcoding (for rush requests), or give the map to or Rami or Jylisa for full cataloging.

For more information, see the Government Information Research Guide: <https://libguides.uidaho.edu/Documents>

6.4.5 Microform

Location: General collections microforms are located on the Third Floor. Government document microforms are located along the east wall of the old section of the basement.

Searching: Microform titles should be discoverable in Primo. However, complete item-level information may not be available for all titles.

Circulation Policies: Microform items do not circulate outside of ILL and Summit requests. Patrons can use the readers located on the third floor.

6.4.6 Physical Maps and Aerial Photos

Location: The map room is located on the First Floor. Aerial photos are either in the map room or in the 4th floor staff area by the microwaves.

Searching: Cataloged maps can be discovered in Primo. There are also physical map indexes on the map shelves to give a general idea of map locations. All Idaho maps have been cataloged, but other areas have both cataloged and uncataloged maps in the drawers. Topographic maps are arranged by state, and then alphabetically by place name within drawers. Each state drawer should have a name index. Aerial photographs have a print index (on cabinets in both the map room and 4th floor) arranged by county, with information about agency and dates. . Please ask Rami if you have questions about physical aerial photos.

Circulation Policies: Maps can be checked out for three days at a time. Patrons should contact the circulation desk to check out a map if it is not barcoded. Access services staff can create a temporary record for barcoding (for rush requests), or give the map to Jylisa Kenyon or Rami Attebury for full cataloging. Aerial photos do not circulate, but patrons can ask about digitization options.

DIGITAL COLLECTIONS

Digital collections are built in-house to share digitized archival content and born-digital materials collected by Special Collections & Archives. If you discover an issue with a specific item, look for the "contact" button on every page to report.

BORROWING FROM OTHER LIBRARIES

6.6.1 Rapido

The University of Idaho Library uses Rapido for resource sharing services. This allows U of I patrons to request materials that are not owned by the U of I Library. Resource sharing is free of charge to any currently-enrolled student, staff, or faculty member (current and emeritus) with a valid U of I account.

Turnaround time for physical loan requests is typically 5-14 days, while electronic articles or book chapters are usually received within 1-2 days. Patrons are notified by email once their item arrives (physical items) or is available for download (electronic items). Some items are more readily available than others, so we can't guarantee the receipt or delivery time of any requested item. Once patrons are signed into the library's catalog, items not owned by the U of I Library can be requested via the form available in relevant search results or the "Blank Request Form" available in the menu. You can monitor the status of requests in your library account.

<mailto:dwillett@uidaho.edu><mailto:victoriakerr@uidaho.edu> Blank Request form problems: Rami Attebury (rattebur@uidaho.edu)

6.6.2 ILL

Interlibrary Loan (<https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/services/ill/>) requests are used for requests not available through Rapido.

Document delivery is a service offered by ILL in which staff will digitize articles, book chapters, government documents, or dissertations physically held in the library.

7 CONSORTIA AND PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

ORBIS CASCADE ALLIANCE

The Orbis Cascade Alliance is a library consortium serving academic libraries in the Pacific Northwest of the United States. The Alliance runs a shared library management system and discovery interface, works on collective purchasing, facilitates access to unique and local collections, and coordinates resource sharing for our members. The Alliance is governed by a Council made up of the dean/director from each member institution, and general questions about the Alliance can be directed to the dean.

University of Idaho Library Program Area Representatives:

- DUX (Discovery and User Experience): Pam Martin
- RSF (Resource Sharing and Fulfillment): Victoria Kerr
- SCTS (Shared Content and Technical Services): Rami Attebury
- Systems: Rami Attebury
- OSDC (Open Strategies & Digital Content): Dulce Kersting-Lark

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND ADVOCACY

7.2.1 Membership in Professional Organizations

Membership in appropriate professional organizations is encouraged for all Library employees, particularly faculty members. However, due to state law and university policy, membership dues cannot be paid using university funds. Membership dues must be paid using personal funds.

7.2.2 Conferences and Professional Development

Tenure-track Library faculty have approximately $1500/year of professional development funds that may be used for continuing education, conference registration and related travel expenses. Section 8.2 has additional information on pre-approval and other processes for paying for travel.

Full-time Library staff may be approved by the dean for similar funding in specific instances where attendance would result in a clear benefit to university operations.

7.2.3 Political Advocacy

Employment at the University of Idaho does not limit any employee's political rights. However, any political speech or action must be performed separately from the university. University email addresses, networks, computers, facilities, and resources may not be used for any political purpose. For example, if you were going to write your representative in congress about a bill affecting libraries, you are required to use a personal email address and technology personally owned by you to do so. If you are in doubt about whether a given situation could be viewed as political advocacy, please consult with the dean.

Faculty-Staff Handbook 6230 A1: “EMPLOYEES' POLITICAL RIGHTS. A person's political rights of citizenship are not impaired by his or her status as a UI employee. Nevertheless, employees may not exercise those political rights in UI's name, or through the use of UI facilities, stationery, forms, supplies, or services of any kind whatsoever, or in any way that might involve UI in partisan political activity or controversy. Under its charter, the state constitution, and Idaho laws, UI is strictly nonpartisan and nonsectarian and must remain so.”

8 TECHNOLOGY AND SYSTEMS

TECHNOLOGY TROUBLESHOOTING AND SUPPORT

Questions about systems specifically supported by the Library (e.g., Library databases and journals, Alma/Primo, Springshare products; also see below) should be directed to the appropriate person within the Library. For all other technology issues (e.g., Microsoft Office issues, desktop and laptop support, installing applications), please submit a ticket at <https://support.uidaho.edu/>

ALMA/PRIMO/RIALTO

Alma (<https://exlibrisgroup.com/products/alma-library-services-platform/>), from Ex Libris, is the Library's ILS (integrated library system). It contains all library records (print and electronic), acquisitions data from 2014 to the present, and patron records and fulfillment transactions. Its systems module integrates with Banner, Leganto, and the Office of Information Technology's identity provider (to allow authentication and access for off-campus resources).

Alma and Primo Analytics transforms library data into reports and data visualizations. All UI Library staff can use Alma or Primo Analytics when needed, and training materials are freely available online. Alma Analytics is accessed via Alma in the left side black bar: Analytics>Access Analytics or Access Analytics (Primo).

Alma Contacts:

- General Alma Configuration and account issues: Rami Attebury (rattebur@uidaho.edu)
- Cataloging or E-Resource Management: Rami Attebury (rattebur@uidaho.edu) or Jylisa Kenyon (jylisadoney@uidaho.edu)
- Circulation/Fulfillment issues: Alisa Melior or Victoria Kerr

Rialto (<https://knowledge.exlibrisgroup.com/Rialto>) is a vendor-neutral marketplace for academic books and ebooks that is embedded in Alma. Library staff can create title or subject lists and profiles. They can also place requests for purchases within Rialto.

Rialto Contacts:

- Purchasing Questions: Alyssa Hamburger
- Training Questions: Alyssa Hamburger, Jylisa Kenyon, or Rami Attebury

Primo (<https://exlibrisgroup.com/products/primo-discovery-service/>), from Ex Libris, is the library's discovery layer or catalog. It is the patron-facing counterpart to Alma. Some Primo design features are configured locally at the library while others are configured at the Orbis Cascade Alliance level. Still others are under the purview of Ex Libris.

Primo Contacts:

- General and Configuration contact: Rami Attebury
- Discovery Team Lead: Hanwen Dong

LEGANTO

Leganto (<https://exlibrisgroup.com/products/leganto-reading-list-management-system/>), from Ex Libris, is the library's course reserves system. Course Reserves are electronic and physical library resources selected by instructors to support student learning. These items can be compiled into a single reading list accessible directly in students' Canvas courses.

Leganto Contacts:

- Course reserves: libreserve@uidaho.edu (forwards to Lex VanHorn, Victoria Kerr, and Rami Attebury)
- Configuration: Rami Attebury

VERSO/ESPLORO

VERSO (<https://verso.uidaho.edu>) is the library's Institutional Repository and Research Information Management software. It runs on Ex Libris's Esploro software.

Contacts:

- VERSO: lib-verso@uidaho.edu (goes to the VERSO team)
- Jeremy Kenyon: jkenyon@uidaho.edu
- Seth Thompson (sthompson@uidaho.edu)

PRESSBOOKS

Pressbooks (<https://uidaho.pressbooks.pub/>) is a "versatile, user-friendly publishing platform educators rely on to create, adapt, and share accessible, interactive, web-first books." We maintain an instance of the system and provide access to users interested in publishing ebooks, print books, manuals, and other materials. We also use it to publish a catalog of Open Educational Resources.

COLLECTIONBUILDER

CollectionBuilder is a digital exhibit framework that is developed by librarians at the University of Idaho. We use it to build and host our digital collections (<https://www.lib.uidaho.edu/digital/>) and our Special Collections Blog, the Idaho Harvester (<https://harvester.lib.uidaho.edu/>). The platform is used across the world by a variety of individuals to build digital exhibits and digital collections. We use it both as a development tool and a teaching tool.

ARCHIVESPACE + ARCHIVES WEST

Archives West (<https://archiveswest.orbiscascade.org/search.php?r=idu>) is a united database of Encoded Archival Description (EAD) finding aids for thousands of archival and manuscript collections in Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah, and Washington. It is made possible by the Orbis Cascade Alliance's Archives and Manuscripts Collections Service. The Archives West database provides a cross-search capability for member institutions and places members' collections into context with related collections from other institutions.

ArchivesSpace is the archival collection management program used by Spec and supported by Alliance staff.

CAMPUS-WIDE SOFTWARE LICENSES

Support for all campus-wide software licenses can be obtained by submitting a help ticket to OIT (see 6.1).

8.9.1 Microsoft Suite

The full Microsoft Suite is licensed for campuswide use and is the primary vehicle for campus file sharing and storage (SharePoint), email (Outlook), and communications (Teams). Word, PowerPoint, Excel, and other common applications are available through this license and are considered the standard for campus.

8.9.1.1 File Management

The Library uses a shared SharePoint folder for Library file management. All fulltime Library employees should have “Documents – Storage-Library > shared” (commonly referred to as “the shared drive”) mapped to their computer.

8.9.2 Zoom

Both Zoom and Teams are commonly used for video conferencing and are both supported by U of I.

8.9.3 Adobe Creative Suite

All U of I employees have access to the full Adobe Create Suite, which can be downloaded by logging in with your uidaho.edu email at <http://adobe.com>.

Benefited staff must self-enroll in a group which will assign them a license. Information on this process is available via the Staff Adobe Licensing Knowledge Base:

<https://support.uidaho.edu/TDClient/40/Portal/KB/ArticleDet?ID=2999>

8.9.4 Survey Software

All employees of the University of Idaho have access to two survey platforms: Qualtrics and Microsoft Forms (both platforms are offered and supported through OIT). Qualtrics is more customizable but more complex, whereas Microsoft Forms is simpler to use and offers better integration with SSO for verifying survey respondents within the university. Both can be used for anonymous surveys.

- Qualtrics can be accessed at <http://surveys.uidaho.edu>
- Microsoft Forms can be accessed at <http://onedrive.uidaho.edu>
 - Use the menu at the top left of the screen to access Forms

8.9.5 Artificial Intelligence

All faculty, staff, and students have full access to VandalChat and MindRouter while on campus or when logged into campus VPN. These tools are built on university networks and run university hardware.

- VandalChat: <https://chat.uidaho.edu>
- MindRouter: <https://mindrouter.uidaho.edu>

9 EMPLOYMENT PROCEDURES

These procedures are a general overview of Library-specific workflows and expectations as a search moves through a hiring process. The information listed below is for library internal use only and does not supersede University, HR, Provost, or EOC policy and procedures. Please contact the Dean, University Libraries with any concerns, questions, or suggestions.

STAFF

9.1.1 Hiring

Step 1: Request to hire and update job description.

1. The dean, in consultation with Library leadership, decides if a vacancy needs to be filled with no or minor changes to the job description, major changes to the job description, repurposed to fill a completely different role, or not filled at all (Responsibility: Dean).
2. Depending on the dean's decision, Samm will submit a Request to Hire form to the Academic Affairs/Provost Office (Responsibility: Samm).

Step 2: Update job description and establish Search Advisory Committee

1. Library Leadership/Area Head/Supervisor will update the job description (Responsibility: Samm).
2. Library Leadership establishes the Search Advisory Committee. The committee should consist of between three and five people, and should be comprised of a chair, at least one person from another Library unit, at least one faculty, at least one staff. Gender and other diversity considerations should be considered when forming the committee. (Responsibility: Library Leadership).

Step 3: PeopleAdmin or PageUp (launching late Fall semester 2026)

1. The initiator updates the job description and posting in PeopleAdmin/PageUp and navigates the job description through salary determination and posting (Responsibility: Samm).

Step 4: Advertising

1. U of I centralized advertising venues and any other paid advertising requested by the Search Advisory Committee (Responsibility: Samm).
2. The Search Advisory Committee will identify other active recruitment venues and send announcements to list serves. This should include, at a minimum, Idaho library listservs (libidaho, idahoacademiclibraries), the Orbis Cascade Alliance Announce listserv, and the PNLA Jobs webpage. (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).

Step 5: The Search

1. The Search Advisory Committee meets to review the job description and qualifications and discuss expectations (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair and Samm).
2. Establish a schedule for the Search Advisory Committee's work (Responsibility: Samm and Search Advisory Committee Chair).

3. The Search Advisory Committee completes EOC required Search Committee Training. Training Completion is verified prior to serving on a search advisory committee (Responsibility: Samm).
4. Forms and Search documents made available to the Search Advisory Committee; grant access to PeopleAdmin/PageUp Search (Responsibility: Samm).
5. Select or create and complete interview questions (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee and Committee Chair).

Step 6: After closing or first consideration date

1. Screen applicants (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee).
2. Create a list of Job-related applicant strengths and weaknesses to support the request for first interviews. Information should only be based on application materials (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee, Samm)
3. Obtain dean's approval to interview (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).
4. Transition applicants in People Admin to get EOC approval for interviews (Responsibility: Samm).
5. Schedule candidate interviews (Responsibility: Samm).
6. Conduct candidate interviews (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee).
7. Create a list of job-related candidate strengths and weaknesses from the first interview; if there is one or more viable candidate, include justification to check references (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).
8. Obtain dean's approval to proceed with reference checking (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).
9. Check candidate references (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee).
10. Finalize interview candidate strengths, weaknesses, and recommendations to the dean (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee, Samm).
11. Collect search paperwork and submit to Samm (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair, Samm).

Note: If at any time during Step 6 the committee feels that the pool is not sufficient to warrant moving forward with next steps, the Chair will consult with Samm and the dean to determine whether to conduct additional interviews, extend the deadline, or fail the search.

Step 7: Hiring

1. Dean approves hire (Responsibility: Dean, Samm).
2. Submit request to hire in People Admin and navigate approval steps from EOC, salary calculation, and background check (Responsibility: Samm)
3. Contingent verbal job offer, including negotiating salary and start date (Responsibility: Dean or dean's delegate).
4. Conduct background check (Responsibility: Samm)
5. Create and deliver offer letter; finalize letter with signatures (Responsibility: Samm).
6. Notify interviewed candidates that the position has been filled (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).
7. Announce hire (Responsibility: Dean or dean's delegate).
8. Complete final applicant transition/disposition in PeopleAdmin/PageUp (Responsibility: Samm)

9.1.2 Onboarding

COMPLETE BEFORE FIRST DAY OF EMPLOYMENT

- Employee completes I-9 at HR (Responsibility: New employee). Note: Until this step is completed, the new employee cannot be appointed and their account cannot be set-up, delays will hold up the onboarding process
- Create new employee ticket with ITS and ensure that computer is set up before first day (Responsibility: Samm and supervisor). Note: Samm submits initial ticket and asks Associate Dean or Area Head to work with faculty member to determine what type of equipment they will need for their position.
- Provide new employee with: (Responsibility: New employee's supervisor or delegate)
 - Arrival time for new employee's first day and meeting point
 - New Employee Onboarding (HR): <https://www.uidaho.edu/human-resources/employees/new-employees>
 - <https://vandalsuidaho.sharepoint.com/sites/InsideUI-HR/SitePages/Onboarding.aspx>
- Work with employee to create agenda for first day and week (Responsibility: New employee's supervisor or delegate).
 - First day:
 - Arrival: meet with supervisor and/or Samm to get keys and Annual Manual, locate office, login into computer, setup email
 - Create an email signature:
 - https://uidaho.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_eQzdnRFP5A7DukJ
 - tour of Library from supervisor or delegate
 - begin university required training and review Annual Manual
 - review new employee check list found on the HR website
 - get on appropriate email lists and recurring meetings (Samm)
 - First week:
 - Complete university required training
 - Review entire Annual Manual
 - Determine initial job tasks and job specific training with supervisor
 - tour of campus from supervisor or delegate
 - Complete new employee check list found on the HR website
 - Second week:
 - Continue job specific training and onboarding with supervisor or delegate looking to transition toward increasing independence

9.1.3 Job Descriptions:

All job descriptions are found in the Position Management section of PeopleAdmin/PageUp.

- Job descriptions should be reviewed as part of the annual employee performance evaluation.
- Any updates to job descriptions should be approved by the area head and associate dean.
- After updates are approved, Samm will update People Admin and request Human Resources approval.

9.1.4 Evaluations

New (classified staff) employees complete 3-month and 6-month probationary evaluations. All staff are required to have an annual evaluation. All annual staff performance evaluations are due to Human Resources by March 1, 2024.

The annual performance evaluation process begins in January. All forms can be found on the HR website.

1. Associate Dean for Operations & Access meets with all supervisors to discuss deadlines and guidelines for the evaluations process.
2. Supervisors may request a self-evaluation from employee.
3. Supervisors write evaluations and submit them to appropriate area chair and associate dean for review.
4. After obtaining permission to move forward, supervisors meet one on one with employees to discuss evaluations and review position descriptions. During this time the supervisee and the supervisor also discuss any potential conflicts of interest. Employees may compose a statement to be included with their evaluation if they wish.
5. Employees should receive a copy of their evaluation at least 24 hours in advance of their meeting.
6. Evaluations are submitted online via Softdocs (See HR's website for linking.)

9.1.5 Resignations

Staff must notify their supervisor and/or the dean in writing (email is fine) of their decision to leave their position and their final day on the job. The dean or supervisor must accept that resignation in writing for it to be official. The Assistant to the Dean or designee will then submit an EPAF. Staff are asked to give at least two weeks' notice.

FACULTY

9.2.1 Degree Equivalency Matrix

Library faculty positions require a master's degree in library science from an ALA accredited program or equivalent. Equivalency consists of a combination of academic credentials and relevant library experience. For any situations where it's unclear, the dean should be consulted. The chart below provides a guide to evaluating candidates' credentials and experience as it relates to this requirement.

Degree	ALA Accredited University	Academic Library Experience	Meets Degree Requirement	Talk to Dean
MLIS, MLS	Yes	Y or equivalent experience as it relates to the position	Yes	No
MLIS, MLS	Unsure or international	Y or equivalent experience as it relates to the position	Maybe	Yes
Master's or Ph.D. related to the position	n/a	Y and equivalent experience as it relates to the position	Maybe	Yes
Master's or Ph.D. not related to the position	n/a	Y and extensive equivalent experience as it relates to the position	Maybe	Yes
Master's or Ph.D. not related to the position	n/a	N and no equivalent experience	No	No
Undergraduate degree or no degree	n/a	n/a	No	No

9.2.2 Hiring

Step 1: Request to hire and update position description.

1. The dean, in consultation with Library leadership, decides if a vacancy needs to be filled with no or minor changes to the position description, major changes to the position description, repurposed to fill a completely different role, or not filled at all (Responsibility: Dean).

Step 2: Update position description and establish Search Advisory Committee

1. Library Leadership/Area Head will update the job description write justification to fill position (Responsibility: Samm)
2. Library Leadership establishes the Search Advisory Committee. The committee should consist of between four and six people, and should be comprised of a chair, at least one person from another Library unit, at least one faculty, at least one staff. When appropriate, a committee member from outside the Library may be included. Gender and other diversity considerations should be considered when forming the committee. (Responsibility: Library Leadership).

Step 3: PeopleAdmin/PageUp

1. Samm updates the position description and posting in PeopleAdmin/PageUp and navigates the PD through Provost approval to fill position, salary determination, and posting (Responsibility: Samm).

Step 4: Advertising

1. U of I centralized advertising venues and any other paid advertising requested by the Search Advisory Committee (Responsibility: Samm).
2. The Search Advisory Committee will identify other active recruitment venues and send announcements to list serves. This should include, at a minimum, Idaho library listservs (libidaho, idahoacademiclibraries), the Orbis Cascade Alliance Announce listserv, and the PNLA Jobs webpage. National/international advertising opportunities should also be explored; note that this is an important step when trying to build a diverse pool (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair, Search Advisory Committee).

Step 5: The Search

1. The Search Advisory Committee meets with the dean who delivers expectations and responsibilities. The committee reviews the position description and qualifications and establishes a schedule for the committee's work (Responsibility: Samm, dean, and Search Advisory Committee Chair).
2. The Search Advisory Committee completes EOC required search committee training. Training completion is verified prior to serving on a search advisory committee. (Responsibility: Samm).
3. Search forms and documents available to committee; grant access to People Admin Search (Responsibility: Samm).
4. Select or create interview questions for both first and second interviews (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee and Committee Chair).

Step 6: After closing or first consideration date

1. Screen applicants (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee). See above for degree equivalency

2. Create a list of job-related applicant strengths and weaknesses to support the request for first interview, information should only be based on application materials (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee, Samm).
 - a. First interviews in faculty searches are always conducted over Zoom or similar videoconferencing platform
3. Obtain dean's approval interview (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).
4. Transition applicants in PeopleAdmin/PageUp to get EOC approval for interviews (Responsibility: Samm).
5. Contact candidates selected for interview (Responsibility: Search Committee Chair).
6. Schedule candidate interviews (Responsibility: Samm).
7. Conduct candidate interviews (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee).
8. Create a list of job-related candidate strengths and weaknesses from the first interview; if there are viable candidates and include justification to check references and invite for second interview (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).
9. Obtain dean's approval to check candidate references (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair).
10. Check references (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee).
11. Finalize strengths, weaknesses, and recommendations to the dean to invite candidates to campus for a second Interview (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee, Samm).
12. Obtain dean's approval to invite finalists to campus (Responsibility: Search Advisory Chair)
13. Transition candidates in PeopleAdmin/PageUp (Responsibility: Samm)
14. Create interview schedule, interview questions, and presentation prompt (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee and Committee Chair)
15. Invite Candidates to second Interview (Responsibility: Search Advisory Chair).
16. Notify candidates not moving forward/reserved (Responsibility: Search Advisory Chair).
 - a. For reserve candidates, the Search Advisory Chair may tell candidates that they are in reserve, that the process is ongoing, or may elect to not immediately communicate. Different situations will warrant different approaches, and it is the responsibility of the Chair to make this determination.
17. Schedule 2nd interview, coordinate travel and lodging and make meal reservations (Responsibility: Samm).
18. Coordinate interview logistics and responsible parties for meetings and pick-up/drop-off of candidates (Responsibility: Advisory Search Chair).
19. Library-wide candidate visit announcements and meeting invites for interview (Responsible Party: Samm and Search Advisory Committee Chair).
20. Request feedback on the candidate (Responsibility: Search Advisory Chair).
21. Create a list of job-related candidate strengths and weaknesses based off second interviews (Responsibility: Search Advisory Chair, Samm).
22. Finalize job-related candidate strengths, weaknesses, and recommendations to the dean (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee, Samm).
23. Collect search documents and submit to Samm (Responsibility: Search Advisory Committee Chair, Samm).

Note: If at any time during Step 6 the committee feels that the pool is not sufficient to warrant moving forward with next steps, the Chair will consult with Samm and the dean to determine whether to conduct additional interviews, extend the deadline, or fail the search.

Step 7: Hiring

1. Dean approves finalist hire (Responsibility: Dean, Samm).
2. Submit request to hire finalist in PeopleAdmin/PageUp and navigates approval steps from EOC, Provost/salary calculation, and background check (Responsibility: Samm).
3. Contingent verbal job offer, including negotiating salary and start date (Responsibility: Dean or dean's delegate).
4. Submit background check (Responsibility: Samm).
5. Provost sends offer letter; finalize letter with signatures (Responsibility: Samm).
6. Notify interviewed candidates that the position has been filled (Responsibility: Dean or dean's delegate).
7. Announce hire (Responsibility: Dean).
8. Complete final applicant transition/disposition in PeopleAdmin/PageUp (Responsibility: Samm).

9.2.3 Onboarding

COMPLETE BEFORE FIRST DAY OF EMPLOYMENT

- Employee completes I-9 at HR (Responsibility: New employee). Note: Until this step is completed, the new employee cannot be appointed, and their account cannot be set-up, delays will hold up the onboarding process
- Create new employee tickets with ITS and ensure that the computer is set up before the first day (Responsibility: Samm and supervisor). Note: Samm submits initial ticket and asks Associate Dean or Area Head to work with faculty member to determine what type of equipment they will need for their position.
- Provide new employee with: (Responsibility: New employee's supervisor or delegate)
 - Arrival time for new employee's first day and meeting point
 - New Employee Onboarding (HR): <https://vandalsuidaho.sharepoint.com/sites/InsideUI-HR/SitePages/Onboarding.aspx?web=1>

Provide faculty with a link to University P&T website:

<https://vandalsuidaho.sharepoint.com/sites/InsideUI-Vice-Provost-Faculty/SitePages/Promotion-and-Tenure.aspx>

- Work with employees to create agenda for first day and week (Responsibility: New employee's supervisor or delegate).
 - First day:
 - Arrival: meet with supervisor and/or Samm to get keys and Annual Manual, locate office, login into computer, setup email
 - Create an email signature: <https://www.uidaho.edu/brand/brand-toolkit/templates/email-signatures>
 - tour of Library from supervisor or delegate
 - get list of Library leadership and immediate co-workers and begin scheduling 30-minute meetings with them to learn about various areas of the library
 - begin university required training and review Annual Manual
 - review new employee check list found on the HR website
 - get on appropriate email lists and recurring meetings (Samm)

- First week:
 - Complete university required training
 - Review entire Annual Manual
 - Complete as many orientation meetings with Library leadership and co-workers as possible
 - Determine initial job tasks and job specific training with section head
 - tour of campus from supervisor or delegate
 - Complete new employee check list found on the HR website
- Second week:
 - Meet with dean and discuss faculty responsibilities (primarily establishing a scholarship program, if applicable)
 - Sign Position Description in People Admin
 - Establish weekly 30-minute check-in meetings with dean for first couple of months
 - Continue job specific training and onboarding with section head looking to transition toward increasing independence
 - Update contact information in Vandal web
 - Meet with Samm to go over leave reporting and/or any other questions they may have

9.2.4 Position Descriptions

All position descriptions are found in the Position Management section of People Admin.

- Position descriptions should be reviewed as part of the annual employee performance evaluation.
- Any updates to position descriptions should be approved by the dean.
- After updates are approved, Samm will update PeopleAdmin/PageUp and submit for Provost approval.
- The faculty, associate dean, and dean will need to sign the position description in PeopleAdmin/PageUp.

9.2.5 Evaluations

The annual evaluation process begins in January. Evaluations are due to the Provost by March 1. All forms can be found on the HR/Provost website

1. In November or December, the dean or associate deans send an email to faculty requesting an annual report and updated CV.
2. The associate deans writes the annual review for faculty that they supervise, respectively.
3. Samm schedules one on one meetings with faculty and their associate dean for annual reviews
4. Samm sends out the draft review to faculty 24 hours before their meeting with their associate dean.

5. The associate deans meets with their individual faculty members to discuss evaluations and obtain signatures. During this time the associate dean and the faculty member also discuss any potential conflicts of interest. Faculty may compose a statement to be included with their evaluation if they wish and can share any concerns with the dean if they would like.

Signed final evaluations are submitted through Softdocs.

9.2.6 Promotion & Tenure

Promotion and Tenure in the Library processes follow university policy as set forth in the Faculty-Staff Handbook and general policy and guidelines in the Library Faculty Bylaws (see Section 10). At hire, faculty members are given an outline of their 3rd Year Review, Tenure, and Promotion dates in their offer letter. Candidates will coordinate with the dean and the Executive Assistant to the Dean on process and timeline.

- August: Promotion and Tenure Dossiers are due to the Provost's Office for preapproval.
- November: Promotion and Tenure Dossiers are due to the Provost's Office
- February: 3rd Year Review due to Provost's Office

9.2.7 Resignations

Faculty must notify their associate dean in writing (email is fine) of their decision to leave their position and their final day on the job. The associate dean then must accept that resignation in writing for it to be official. The Assistant to the Dean or designee will then submit an EPAF. Faculty are asked to give at least four weeks' notice.

STUDENTS

9.3.1 Hiring

Step One: Hiring Plan Process and Approval

At the end Spring Semester, the College Business Officer will request a simple Hiring Plan that includes a projected budget from each Unit Head for the upcoming fiscal year. The unit head will work with each unit supervisor in their area and with Library leadership to approve the plan.

Step Two: Recruitment

After there is an approved hiring plan, supervisors may move forward with recruitment for their student employees.

This can be completed by reaching out to external departments, flyers, and Handshake. Or if a formal competitive search is needed, contact Samm in the Admin Office.

Step Three: Contingent Offer

After the unit supervisor has selected a student employee to hire, they may make a contingent offer if:

- This hire falls within the approved hiring plan
- The hourly wage follows the approved tier system (See Pay Scale Section 9.3.2 below)
 - If the supervisor wants to offer above the minimum for each tier, it must be justified.

The offer should be contingent upon:

- Passing a criminal background check
- Completion of all pre-employment paperwork
 - This includes contacting International Programs for international students.

The contingent offer letter should be in writing; by email or in letter format.

- If the job is offered and accepted verbally, follow-up with an email.
- Offer letter example can be found here:
<https://vandalsuidaho.sharepoint.com/sites/InsideUI-HR/SitePages/Forms-and-Documents.aspx>

Step Four: Submit a request to Hire

Fill out the Library's Request to hire form: <https://forms.cloud.microsoft/r/Nv3mghzUNt>

- Start date and term date must be filled out
- Per Financial Aide work study students cannot work past the last day of the academic year. (Friday before commencement)

Step Five: Submit a CBC Request

Submit a CBC request. A link can be found in the My UI portal

- Samm Green is the EOR
- Brittni McNeill is the additional person to be copied
- Contact Brittni McNeill for an index number
 - If you have a previous index number, double check to make sure it is still the one you should be using

Step Six: Pre-Employment Paperwork

- The contingent offer letter will have instructions for filling out the I-9. I-9 forms can now be filled out electronically or in person.
- After the I-9 is complete, the supervisor will e-mail lib-fiscal-operations.
- All international students must contact IPO to make sure they do not have any additional paperwork to fill out.

Step Seven: Appointment - EPAF

- After the pre-employment paperwork is completed, the supervisor will set the start date and email lib-fiscal operations.
- Fiscal Operations will submit an Epaf.
- After the Epaf is applied by HR, Fiscal Operations will assign a supervisor, which triggers the employee timesheet.
 - Timesheets: Reach out to Fiscal Operations the Monday before payday if a student can't access their timesheet. There are many different groups involved when processing EPAFs (Departments, Budget Office, HR). Sometimes it can take a while to be fully approved and for us to be able to add a supervisor to the timesheet.

9.3.2 Pay Scale

Student Employee Tier System

It is expected that student employees will be hired at the starting pay rate for their tier. Should a supervisor wish to hire a student employee above the starting pay rate, the decision must be justified and approved through the chain of supervision. Contact Samm with any questions.

Library Assistant 1 - $10.50 – $12.50

Entry-level position focused on independent, detail-oriented work. Some experience preferred but not required. Example responsibilities include:

- Interaction with patrons and the public varies by assignment
- May be alone at the main desk for short periods
- Digital, data, scanning, or comparable experience a plus
- Works when library staff are present
- Attention to detail

Library Assistant 2 - $11.50 – $13.50

Experienced position requiring expertise and the ability to work independently with the public. Example responsibilities include:

- Works independently with patrons and the public
- Digital, data, scanning, or comparable experience
- Strong attention to detail
- May supervise the desk when library staff are not scheduled or covering lunch breaks
- May open and close units
- May assist with or run workshops
- Night and weekend work

Library Assistant 3 - Grad student level work - special projects $12.50 - TBD by project

Highly specialized project-based work at or above the graduate student level work. Pay determined by project scope.

Note: There will no longer be nightshift differentials due to the change in Library hours of operations.

Raises and Promotions

Raises are in $0.25 increments. Eligibility is based on quality of work, training completion, and semesters worked. Fall and spring semesters count toward raise criteria; summer and winter breaks do not. Raises are not guaranteed and are contingent upon funding and leadership approval.

A promotion occurs when a student or temporary help employee moves from Tier 1 to Tier 2. At the time of promotion, employees may be eligible for a $.25 raise or an increase up to the starting wage of the new Tier. After promotion to a new Tier, the raise eligibility resets for the new position. Raises can be made after one full semester, again after the second full semester, and annually thereafter.

Raise	Eligibility	Takes Effect
First Raise	After 1 full semester (fall or spring)	Beginning of second semester worked
Second Raise	After 2 full semesters	Beginning of third semester worked
Returning/Ongoing	After 2 full semesters since last increase (annually)	As approved

Requirements for all raises:

- All training complete
- Evaluation complete
- Competent, punctual work
- Meets and/or exceeds duties

9.3.3 Training

All student employees must complete the required University Training within the first month of employment.

The SED Team provides a Student Employee Manual <https://uidaho.pressbooks.pub/studentemployeedevelopment/> for student training.

All units should have standard onboarding procedures.

9.3.4 Evaluation

The Student Employee Development Team is charged with creating a standard evaluation process.

9.3.5 Ongoing Tasks

Additional Appointments and Work Student appointments

- It is the supervisor's responsibility to ensure that students with additional appointments understand that the Library does not permit or pay overtime.
- Students must keep their combined work hours for all positions under 40 hours per week.
- Supervisors in cooperation with their work study students need to monitor funding to make sure that students do not exceed their award.

Reappointments/Continuations

At the end of spring semester, Library Fiscal Operations will contact supervisors to confirm reappointments, continuations, or separations/terminations.

Separations

If a student employee separates from the Library, the supervisor must notify Library Fiscal Operations as soon as possible by filling out the request from:

<https://forms.cloud.microsoft/r/Nv3mghzUNt>

10 OTHER PROCEDURES

LEAVE REQUESTS

10.1.1 Requesting Leave

Planned Leave

All planned leave (annual/vacation, medical, etc.) needs to be pre-approved by your supervisor. Leave requests may be submitted via email (please CC Samm for tracking purposes) or through this Qualtrics form: <https://tinyurl.com/LibraryLeaveRequest>

Unplanned Leave

Inform your supervisor of any unplanned leave, such as sick leave. Dean Hunter prefers to be notified with a short email (please CC Samm for tracking purposes) simply stating you will be taking sick leave.

Communication is the best practice. Be sure you have preapproval or that you have contacted your supervisor if you will not be available during your normal work hours.

10.1.2 Reporting

Listed below, you will find some helpful information about leave/time reporting. If you have any questions, please contact Samm.

10.1.2.1 All Employees

All hourly employees should be entering their time every day and submitting their timesheets before they leave on the last day of the pay period. Given that this is not always possible, timesheets should be submitted no later than 5:00 p.m. on Monday following the last day of the pay period.

10.1.2.2 Faculty/Exempt Employees

You only need to report hours of leave taken. If you have no leave to report, do not submit a timesheet to your supervisor.

Leave choices are generally annual leave (fiscal year appointment), sick leave, or medical leave (only 2 hours per 1 month period (day 1 thru day 30/31). You do not need to report holiday hours taken.

In special circumstances, you may need to report other kinds of leave. If you need assistance, please contact Samm.

10.1.2.3 Classified/Hourly Employees

Need to report all hours worked, all leave types taken, and all holiday hours worked or taken.

Leave choices are generally annual leave (fiscal year appointment), sick leave, furlough leave, or medical leave (only 2 hours per a 1-month period (day 1 thru day 30/31). You do need to report holiday hours taken or if worked, the hours worked.

In special circumstances, you may be reporting other kinds of leave and if you need assistance, please contact Samm.

Catering

If you have an event that you would like to use university catering services for, start by filling out the purchase request form: <https://tinyurl.com/UII-purchaseRequest>

After approval of the request, coordinate with Samm to prepare the order.

TRAVEL AND P-CARDS

10.2.1 Library Travel Pre-Approval Process

Employees must first submit a ticket through the Library Travel request system:

<https://tinyurl.com/Library-travelRequest>. Once the ticket is approved, the Library Administrative Office will enter a travel preapproval in ChromeRiver on the employee's behalf.

- Travel must be approved by the employee's supervisor before departure and before any expenses are incurred.
- A Travel Pre-Approval is required even when no reimbursement will be requested or when the trip is funded by a third party. For Lodging reservations be sure to request the government discount rate and provide a Lodging Sales Tax Exemption form at the time of check-in. (ST104 State Tax Form)
- When making travel arrangements, the University will only reimburse expense one day prior and following the scheduled dates for conferences, workshops, meetings, and/or seminars.
- Be sure to notate in the comments section on the Travel Request Ticket, anything out of the ordinary, unusual or an exception to University Travel. I.e. personal travel
- Pre-Approvals for International Travel should be submitted for approval no less than 30 days prior to departure.
- All employee travel that relates to their employment must be submitted in the Chrome River Travel system

10.2.2 ChromeRiver travel reimbursements

- A travel expense report should be submitted within 15 days from the return date. Reimbursements filed 60 days after the date of the travel may be subject to Payroll withholding.
- Itemized receipts must be provided for travel reimbursement

- If a receipt cannot be provided or duplicate, an Affidavit of Lost Receipt will need to be completed and included on the Expense report to authorize the reimbursement.
- A copy of an itinerary or agenda for conferences, workshops, meetings, and/or seminars must be included to help determine what expense are appropriate for reimbursement. The agenda must be provided in PDF format to be included with Per Diem reimbursement.
- Pre-trip expense such as Airfare, lodging, registration may be placed on the purchasing card as long as no personal travel is included.

10.2.3 University of Idaho P-card approval and training

- Approval must be received by College Fiscal Officer and Dean before applying for University of Idaho Purchasing Card.
- Once approval has been received, you will need to take the purchasing card training through UIBridge and save the certificate. You will also need to fill out the AP Purchase Cardholder Agreement through Softdocs. You will attach a copy of the certificate from UIBridge to this form.
- Once forms have been submitted to Accounts Payable, you can expect to receive your purchasing card in 7-10 business days.

MARKETING & COMMUNICATIONS

10.3.1 Marcom list and procedures

Any Library resources, programs, workshops, initiatives, awards, etc. that may be worthy of being featured on social media, in external newsletters, and/or through a press release should be emailed to lib-marcom@uidaho.edu

10.3.2 Daily Register and MyUI

Notifications about Library resources, programs, workshops, initiatives, awards, etc. may be submitted for inclusion in The Register (daily email newsletter for U of I faculty and staff) and/or MyUI (weekly newsletter for all university students by visiting this page: <https://tinyurl.com/UI-RegisterMyUI> or <https://vandalsuidaho.sharepoint.com/sites/InsideUI-UCM>

10.3.3 University brand toolkit

All digital and printed materials including handouts, signage, websites, brochures, etc. should adhere to University of Idaho brand guidelines. Official university fonts, colors, logos, and graphics, and also templates, can be found in the Brand guide: <https://www.uidaho.edu/brand/brand-toolkit>

10.3.4 Library graphics/logos

Official logos for the Library and Library units, as well as the Library Tower design element, can be found in the shared > Marketing and Communications > UI Library Logo. To find other branded templates for the Library, see shared > Marketing and Communications > Library Toolkit. The official University of Idaho Library logo (stacked/horizontal) cannot be used beside the Tower design element.

10.3.5 Social Media and Blogs

The targeted audience of the Library via social media includes students, staff, faculty, as well as the wider campus, local, and national community. The purpose of the Library's social media effort is to tell our story as the largest library in the state of Idaho. This includes sharing information about resources and materials, physical and online spaces, events, and other opportunities made available by the Library. Posts and interaction made on social media should be authentic, accurate, and be an avenue for conversation.

Social Media posts should maintain the graphics and logos designed by UCM. Please see the above Section 10.3.3 University brand toolkit for more information on fonts and colors allowed by the university. Analytics can be downloaded from Meta Business Suite and Twitter Analytics. These should be gathered and downloaded to the MarCom Team folder each month to show any engagement increases or decreases. When publishing images or graphics generated by AI, note this in the text portion of the post and the alt-text. Images for social media can come from the University's Media Library (<https://uidahophoto.photoshelter.com/galleries>) for noncommercial use. Please see the UCM's Image and Video Use Policy (<https://www.uidaho.edu/brand/ucm/media-library#policy>). The Media Library is where the MarCom Team can access updated photos of the exterior and interior of the Library and its spaces.

Accounts managed by the Library Social Media Coordinator include Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/UofILibrary>) Instagram (<https://www.instagram.com/uofilibrary/>), and YouTube (<https://www.youtube.com/@UofILibrary>). For more information, contact the Library's Social Media Coordinator (TBD). Other accounts that are not in use include Pinterest and Tumblr. The Idaho Harvester (<https://harvester.lib.uidaho.edu/>) blog is a platform run by U of I Library Special Collections and Archives. This is not an entity maintained by the MarCom Team, but there should be at least one Spec representative on the Team.

GRANTS

Library faculty are encouraged to apply for grants that will help advance the mission and projects of the library. Before any significant work is done on a grant, Library employees must submit a grant approval form: <https://forms.cloud.microsoft/r/jhP3JcQnBW>

All grants are run through the administrative resources of the university and the library. Particularly, the Office of Sponsored Projects (OSP) requires that grant applications, funds, and reporting be run through their office. For more information on OSP and the steps required to apply for and administer a grant, see the website for faculty and staff put together by the Office of Research and Economic Development (ORED): <https://www.uidaho.edu/research/faculty>

Grant applications to be submitted and managed through VERAS (<https://veras.uidaho.edu>). The university's Vandals Electronic Research Administration System, or VERAS, is where principal investigators (PIs), Co-PIs or editors can upload and submit proposals for review, electronic routing and Office of Sponsored Programs approval.

Grants require a significant output of staff and faculty time, so be aware of the extra administrative and bureaucratic requirements that applying for and executing any grant might entail.

Please contact the Dean of the Library or the Associate Dean for Research and Instruction BEFORE doing any significant work on an application for a new grant. The Dean WILL NOT APPROVE grants that have not received an initial okay to move forward.

MAILING AND FAXING

The mailroom is managed by Discovery and Acquisitions. The following bullet points are for your general information.

- Internal University of Idaho Mail must have a U of I campus mail stop (e.g., MS2350)
- All mail sent externally needs to have a barcode which can be obtained from Clinton Johnson or Rachel Kerr. Regular stamps cannot be used.
- For large or international mailings, work with Clinton Johnson.
- For FedEx or UPS contact Clinton Johnson.
- The Library Fax Number is: 208-885-7070 and is located in the Admin Office supply room connected to the copy machine. To dial out use 8-1- then the 7-digit number.

BEST PRACTICES FOR MEETINGS

- Don't call a meeting if you don't have to.
- A meeting requires an individual be responsible for running the meeting.
 - This does not mean this person gets to run the conversation!
- Meetings should have an agenda; ongoing meetings should have agenda templates.
 - Agendas should be created and shared prior to the meeting time.
 - Agendas should be created by the person calling/running the meeting.
- Meetings should be documented -- i.e. notes should be taken (this can be a group effort or the responsibility of an individual)
 - Ongoing meetings should be documented in one document with the most recent agenda being at the top of the document.
- Start on time. End on time.
- When possible, meetings should be no longer than 1 hour and preferably shorter than 1 hour.

IN-PERSON VS. ONLINE ATTENDANCE MEETING ATTENDANCE

- Zoom links to meeting are primarily intended for those who are working remotely, either permanently or temporarily.
- Zoom can be used if you're worried about getting others sick.
- Zoom can be used if you're unable to leave your workstation due to public service responsibilities.
- Generally speaking, please keep your camera on.
- Please do not Zoom into in-person meetings because you want to multi-task from your office or just don't feel like showing up in person.

CAMPUS SECURITY

<https://www.uidaho.edu/infrastructure/pss/security-services>

- Email: campus-security@uidaho.edu
- Phone: 208-885-7054 OR 208-874-7550 (Both numbers reach Campus Security directly. Second number can be used if first one is not working.)

The Mission of the University of Idaho Campus Security Team is to create and maintain a safe, secure campus and to provide a safe educational environment through a community approach to security as well as the promotion of personal safety and awareness and the deterrence of crime. The Campus Security Team is on patrol 24 hours a day, 7 days a week - including holidays and academic breaks.

Campus Security can be contacted by anyone at any time to address concerning or threatening behavior. Additionally, Campus Security provides:

- Campus SAFEWALKs
- Jumpstarts
- Loaner gas can
- Assistance with after-hour building and office lockouts

REPORTING CONCERNING BEHAVIOR

<https://www.uidaho.edu/student-affairs/dean-of-students/vandalcare>

This page provides forms to report sexual misconduct, incidences of bias, student conduct issues, and any other concerning behavior involving students, employees, or the public. These forms route directly to trained professionals who will address issues in a timely manner. However, Campus Security or 911 should be used for any emergency or immediately time sensitive situation.

And fill out the internal Library Reporting Form:

https://uidaho.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_cUajkxJo3tztjMy

This is an internal reporting form (mostly for public services) to record incidents, such as harassing behavior, property damage, students of concern, bats in the library, etc. if something happens and you think it's out of the ordinary, please consider reporting it.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

<https://www.uidaho.edu/human-resources/benefits/core-benefits/eap>

The Employee Assistance Program (EAP) is a free, confidential service that offers eligible employees and their families access to professional counseling, legal and financial consulting, referral information and a variety of online resources.

You do not have to enroll in a medical plan to participate in the EAP. However, if you are enrolled in a medical plan, you may be able to maximize your benefits by accessing free EAP services before using behavioral health benefits, which require you to pay a share of the cost.

OMBUDS

<https://www.uidaho.edu/governance/faculty-staff/ombuds>

The mission of the Ombuds Office is to promote and support a positive and productive working, learning and living environment for the entire Vandal community by improving communication, addressing problems and preventing and resolving conflicts that emerge within the university.

The Ombuds is completely confidential and available free of charge to everyone at U of I.

BENEFITS

Benefits Services provides information, resources, and assistance with insurance, mental health and wellness services, leave, and retirement.

12 LIBRARY FACULTY BYLAWS

Note: These are the most current accepted Library Faculty Bylaws, and therefore are in effect. However, the Library Faculty Bylaws are currently under revision.

Article 1.0

Name, Objectives, and Authority

1.1 Name

The name of this constituent faculty of the University of Idaho is the Library Faculty.

1.2 Objectives

The objective of the Library Faculty is to connect our users with information, ideas, tools, and spaces; enrich formal and informal learning opportunities; support and advance research, scholarly, and creative activity; build partnerships through regional and national outreach; and preserve university, state, and regional historical archives.

1.3 Authority

FSH 1590 Unit Bylaws requires each unit to develop bylaws setting forth the rules by which the unit is governed. As provided in FSH 1520 Constitution of the University faculty, the constituent faculty of each subdivision within a college or similar unit is authorized to establish and to effect its own educational objectives, including matters of student admission and curriculum, and to participate in the selection of its own dean, other executive officers, and faculty members, subject only to the general rules and regulations of the university faculty and the authority of the president and the regents.

Article 2.0 Membership

2.1 Voting Members

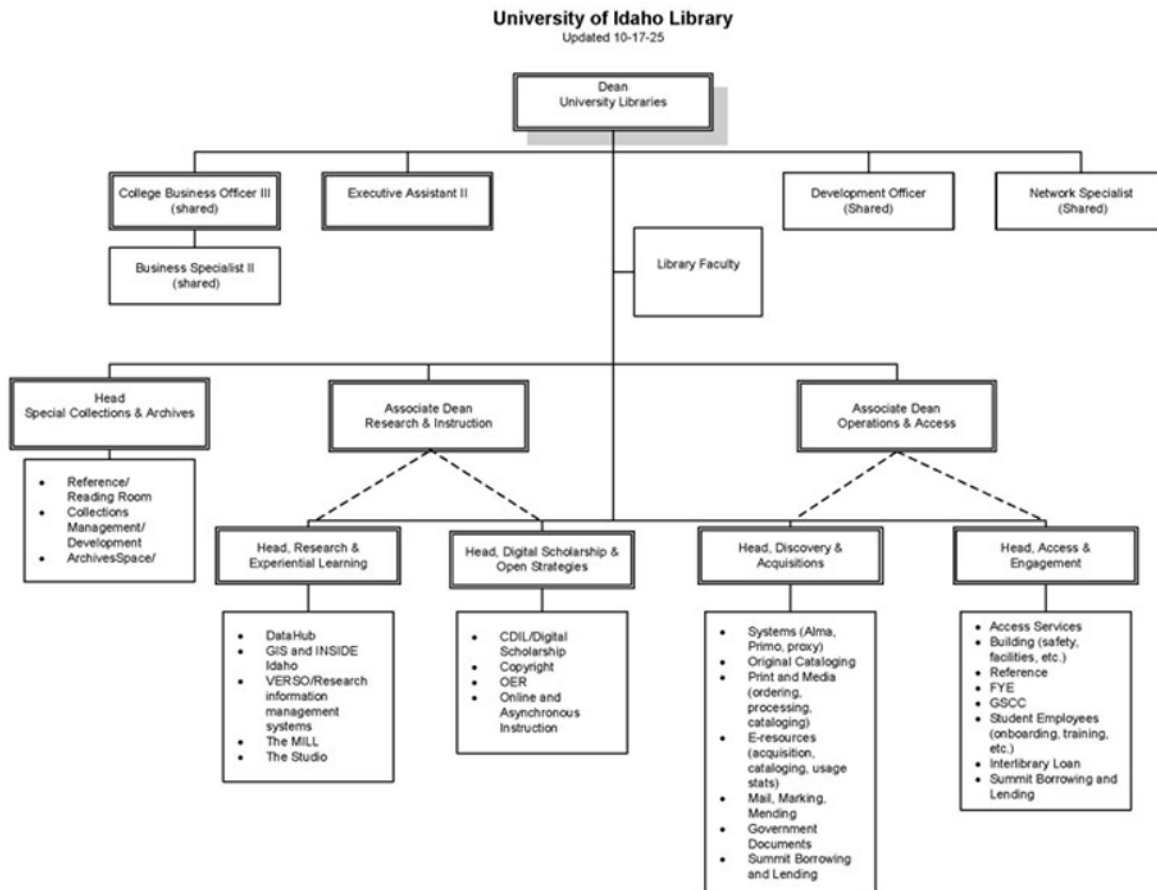

The voting members of the Library Faculty shall be those who qualify as “university faculty” as defined by FSH 1520 Constitution of the University Faculty and hold appointments and rank in the Library.

2.2 Non-Voting Members

- A faculty member with adjunct status may participate in all faculty meetings in an advisory capacity only, without a vote.
- Affiliate faculty and Emeriti faculty may participate without vote in the meetings of the Library Faculty.

Article 3.0

Organizational Structure

3.1 The Library is divided into four Areas:

- Administration (led by the Dean)
- Operations & Access (led by the Associate Dean for Operations & Access)
- Research & Instruction (led by the Associate Dean for Research & Instruction)
- Special Collections & Archives (led by the Head of Special Collections & Archives)

3.2 The two largest Areas are divided into two Sections:

- Operations & Access is divided into:
 - Access & Engagement Head of Access & Engagement
 - Discovery & Acquisitions led by Head of Discovery & Acquisitions

- Research & Instruction is divided into:
 - Digital Scholarship & Open Strategies led by Head of Digital Scholarship & Open Strategies
 - Research & Experiential Learning (led by Head of Research & Experiential Learning)

Article 4.0

Administration

Library leadership consists of the Dean of University Libraries, two associate deans, the Department Head of Special Collections & Archives, and four Unit Heads. If any of these positions are vacant, authority for a Unit or the department transfers up to the next reporting level.

4.1 Dean

The chief administrative officer of the University of Idaho Library is the Dean.

4.1.1 Responsibilities

The responsibilities of the dean are as described in FSH 1420.

4.1.2 Appointment

The appointment of the dean is led by the provost and is governed by FSH 1420.

4.1.3 Review

Review of the dean is governed by FSH 3320.

4.1.4 Term

The dean serves at the discretion of the provost.

4.1.5 Vacancies

All absences and vacancies will be filled according to the procedure set forth in FSH 1420 C and D.

4.2 Associate Deans

4.2.1 Responsibilities

An associate dean shall assume such administrative duties as the dean shall prescribe. If an associate dean has teaching responsibilities, such responsibilities may be reduced to accommodate assigned administrative responsibilities.

4.2.2 Appointment

The appointment of administrators is governed by FSH 1420. One or more associate deans may be appointed by the dean. Such appointments shall be made by the dean with the advice and consent of the faculty. An associate dean shall serve at the pleasure of the dean. If an associate dean is a tenured or tenure-track faculty member, at the conclusion of such service they shall return to the faculty with the faculty rank and tenure status earned at the time of such return. An associate dean shall assume such administrative duties as the dean shall prescribe. An associate dean who is a tenure-track faculty member shall be considered for tenure and promotion by the same process and according to the same standards as are applicable to other members of the faculty.

4.2.3 Review

Review of an associate dean is governed by FSH 3320.

4.2.4 Term

An associate dean has an ongoing appointment and shall serve at the discretion of the dean.

4.2.5 Vacancies

All absences and vacancies will be filled according to the procedure set forth in FSH 1420 C and D.

4.3 Program Director

4.3.1 Responsibilities

A program director shall assume duties as prescribed by the dean and governed by FSH 1420.

4.3.2 Appointment

One or more program directors may be appointed by the dean. Program directors will have the working titles of Head of Special Collections, Head of Discovery and Access, etc. Such appointments shall be made by the dean with the advice of the faculty. A program director shall serve at the pleasure of the dean. If a program director is a tenured or tenure-track faculty member, at the conclusion of such service they shall return to the faculty with the faculty rank and tenure status earned at the time of such return. The Program Director shall assume such administrative duties as the dean shall prescribe. A Program Director who is a tenure-track faculty member shall be considered for tenure and promotion by the same process and according to the same standards as are applicable to other members of the faculty.

4.3.3 Review

Review of a program director (head) is governed by FSH 3320.

4.3.4 Term

Program directors (head) have an ongoing or term appointment and serve at the discretion of the dean.

4.3.5 Vacancies

All absences and vacancies will be filled according to the procedure set forth in FSH 1420 C and D.

[NOTE Articles 5-7 of your bylaws should be completed at a later date. They are purposely omitted from this template to emphasize the need to prioritize only sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 8 of the Bylaws].

Article 8.0

Tenure, Promotion, and Third-Year Review

Promotion and Tenure processes in the Library follow university policy as set forth in the Faculty-Staff Handbook. At hire, faculty members are given an outline of their Third Year Review, Tenure, and Promotion dates in their offer letter. Candidates will coordinate with the dean and the Executive Assistant to the Dean on process and timeline.

8.1 Sources of evidence for promotion and tenure

The following may be used as evidence of accomplishment in consideration for both promotion and tenure.

Teaching & Advising
Sources of Evidence
Quantitative measures, qualitative measures, or both demonstrating the creation or delivery of activities, services, or both that support stewardship, acquisition, and discovery of resources
Quantitative measures, qualitative measures, or both demonstrating activities, services, or both that support finding, creating, interpreting, or distributing information and knowledge through a variety of formats and venues.
Quantitative measures, qualitative measures, or both demonstrating activities, services, or both that promote inclusive and welcoming experiences and environments to support and improve student success, faculty involvement, or community engagement.
Scholarship & Creative Activities ***
*Primary Sources of Evidence	Secondary Evidence to Consider

Editorial work that involves the generation of new scholarly content	Applied scholarship and creative activity that serves public entities
Scholarly monographs or textbooks	Awards for scholarship and creative activities
Alternate formats of scholarly work that have been through a peer-review process	Open educational resources or curriculum
* May consider quality of venue (i.e., acceptance rate, impact factor or other measures)  Counted as scholarship during the year it was awarded; some work done as part of this funding may count as teaching/advising  Outputs should be directly related to professional responsibilities
Outreach & Extension
Sources of Evidence
Professional service—advisory boards, leadership roles, activities, etc. Participation in, and especially leadership in, a professional or academic association Program chair for an international, national, or regional conference Service as reviewer for conference papers, grant proposals, journals Service as an external reviewer of tenure or promotion dossiers for other universities Judging professional or academic competitions Service as an editor or associate editor of a journal Service on editorial board for conference proceedings Service as moderator, discussant, or timekeeper for a session at a conference Attending events to represent U of I in an official capacity Presented or served as keynote speaker at field-relevant professional organizations or conference Representation of the University/ college, or discipline on governmental, NGO, or private sector bodies Building collaborative programs locally, regionally, statewide, nationally or internationally to address discipline-specific issues. Planning, development and or delivery of outreach type programs (i.e., professional development workshops and trainings) to discipline specific audiences.
Service & Leadership
Sources of Evidence
Roles served, initiatives, and outcomes for university activities and committees (e.g. university-wide faculty meetings, committees). Service on special projects, task forces, and ad hoc working groups Leadership roles on university, college, or departmental committees Administrative/ leadership service to the department, college, or university

Serving on or chairing a search committee
Other service such as: ad hoc mentoring, counseling and support of students and colleagues, service for other departments or units, organizational activities that promote collegiality and enhance department mission
Direct supervision of university employees

8.2 Promotion

The granting of promotion is based on a thorough and uniform evaluation of the candidate's performance and is granted only when there is reasonable assurance, based on performance, that the candidate will continue to meet the criteria for that level of promotion. Details about University faculty librarian roles and ranks are outlined in FSH 1565-D5 and acceptable sources of evidence of accomplishment are described in section 8.1 of these bylaws. The evaluation of candidates must reflect their position description assignment and, with reference to those assignments, be based primarily on their accomplishments. In evaluating a candidate's record of specific evidence, consideration must be given to both quantity and quality. In all four areas of contribution, performance will be reviewed for the period under review when viewed in context of the candidate's entire academic career.

8.2.1 Promotion from Instructor to Senior Instructor

Promotion criteria for instructors will align to the teaching/librarianship criteria in section 8.2.2.2.

8.2.2 Promotion in the professorial ranks

8.2.2.1 Scholarship and creative activity. If a faculty member's position description includes primary responsibility to scholarship and creative activity, they must show clear evidence that they have a recognized national or international profile in their field and a scholarly or creative activity agenda that demonstrates impact, coherence, and progression.

Quality indicators for scholarly and creative activity vary by the type of librarianship the faculty member pursues and may include interdisciplinary efforts in collaboration with faculty outside of the Library.

In accordance with Boyer's model of scholarship, librarianship primarily explores the scholarship of teaching and learning, in which librarians as faculty and teachers not only transmit knowledge to patrons but, as scholars and learners, seek to transform and extend it. We therefore commit to conducting research that will enhance academic excellence throughout our institution, our state, and beyond.

Librarians are expected to advance their practice with inquiring minds, developing research questions that have universal application, and which will inform local to global practice. Their goal should be to use research as a means of advancing, preserving, disseminating, and critiquing knowledge of education and library theory and practice.

Librarians should aspire to regularly publish results of their inquiry in nationally recognized, peer-reviewed journals as well as to present their findings to peers at professional conferences. They should strive to produce peer-reviewed scholarly work that peers cite and apply. The Library does not differentiate value between single versus multi-authored articles, as collaboration with other faculty is valued.

8.2.2.1.1 Criteria specific to promotion from assistant to associate Librarians are expected to have begun developing a coordinated, sustained, and significant record of research.

8.2.2.1.2 Criteria specific to promotion from associate to full [if appropriate]. Over their careers, librarians should endeavor to build a research portfolio that has high impact, fulfilling the Library's vision to bring the best of Idaho to the world.

In addition to the qualifications outlined in FSH 1565-D-5, full professors at the Library are expected to exhibit the following characteristics in their research and scholarship:

- Evidence of a coordinated, sustained, and significant record of research and publication that builds upon previous research
- National or global recognition by peers in any area of their position
- Intellectual and academic maturity

8.2.2.2 Teaching and advising. If a faculty member's position includes teaching and advising, the candidate is expected to help the University attain its educational mission. The standard is demonstrated by effectiveness in the practice of librarianship. Both the quality and quantity of activities are evaluated. Evaluation librarianship should be based on multiple forms of assessment. Acceptable sources of evidence of accomplishment are described in section 8.1 of these bylaws.

Librarians are expected to exhibit the following characteristics in their work:

- A command of their subject matter
- An ability to use a repertoire of effective strategies for advancing their practice including use of appropriate technological tools
- Academic rigor and assessment measure of work performed.
- An ability to engage Library patrons effectively in the learning process, arouse curiosity, promote creative work and develop their awareness of the relationship of the subject to other fields of knowledge
- Growth as a librarian, including use of up-to-date content, instructional strategies, and technology

8.2.2.3 Service and leadership. If a faculty member's position description includes service and leadership, the faculty is expected to participate in internal activities that serve the University of Idaho's land-grant mission. Leadership activities include University, college and department leadership roles including but not limited to program coordinators, directors, department or committee chairs, and associate deans. Consideration is given to the scope and workload associated with various internal service commitments. In addition to internal service, some faculty members may take on external leadership roles. Acceptable sources of evidence of internal and external accomplishment are described in section 8.1 of these bylaws.

8.2.2.4 Outreach and Extension. If a faculty member's position description includes outreach and extension, the faculty is expected to participate in activities outside of the University of Idaho that advance our mission as a land-grant institution. Faculty demonstrate excellence in outreach and extension through a thoughtful and evidence-informed program of impact disseminated through multiple means. Acceptable sources of evidence of accomplishment are described in section 8.1 of these bylaws.

8.3 Tenure

Tenure consideration involves a holistic evaluation of past performance and future promise of contribution to the discipline justifying an expectation of continuous employment and is intended to protect the academic freedom essential to an atmosphere conducive to the free search for and creation of knowledge, and the attainment of excellence in the University.

Tenure is based on a review of the candidate's performance in all of their responsibility areas prior to tenure consideration. The standard for tenure is that a candidate must demonstrate clear evidence that they have established a national or international reputation in their field. Sources of evidence in support of tenure may be found in section 8.1 of these bylaws. In addition, for each area of responsibility outlined in a candidate's position description, there should be a reasoned assessment indicating that the candidate will continue to meet or exceed expectations across teaching, scholarship, service, and outreach in proportion to the percentages assigned to each category.

Demonstration of scholarly contributions must meet the criteria specified for promotion. Concurrent granting of promotion and tenure involves a twofold evaluation of a candidate's record utilizing the distinct criteria for both promotion and tenure.

8.4 Third-Year Review

Full-time, untenured faculty shall be reviewed during the 24- to 36-month period after beginning employment at UI. The review will be conducted pursuant to FSH 3510.
